

MEANS AND FELDER GUILTY; SENTENCED

DETECTIVE TO SERVE 2 YEARS AT ATLANTA, GA.

Fined $10,000 Also—His Lawyer Escapes With
$10,000 Fine Only

New York, Jan. 30.—Gaston B. Means, detective, and Thomas B. Felder, his lawyer, were found guilty of conspiracy to bribe government officials in a sealed verdict returned today in United States district court. The jury recommended extreme clemency for Felder.

Judge Lindley sentenced Means to serve two years in the Atlanta, Ga., penitentiary and to pay a fine of $10,000. It was the maximum penalty. Felder was fined $10,000 but given no prison sentence.

The jury's verdict was reached at 8:50 p. m. yesterday but sealed and kept until court opened this forenoon. The jury had been out five hours and 45 minutes.

Means received the verdict with his familiar dimpled smile.

Felder turned pale, licked his dry lips and gulped, while he sat immovably in his chair.

Means seemed to take the jury's finding as a joke. He had bet a reporter five cents at even money, that he would be convicted.

"Well," he said, with a grin, "I guess I win five cents."

The government, in bringing the conspiracy charge, complained that Felder, Means and the latter's confidential man, Elmer Jarnecke, who pleaded guilty and testified against them, conspired to bribe former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, one of Felder's law partners, U. S. District Attorney Hayward, his assistant, John Holloy Clark, and William J. Burns, head of the bureau of investigation, of the department of justice under Daugherty.

The defendants, it was charged, obtained $55,000 from certain defendants in the mail fraud cases growing out of the Cruger Company's sale of stock in the Glass Casket Company.

Means, Felder and Jarnecke, the government alleged, told these defendants that they could obtain dismissal of the indictment against them. Felder and Means' defense was that Jarnecke, Isaac Padover, of Chicago, and the latter's financial backer, Samuel Schmidt, conspired to swindle the casket defendants, using Means' name for that purpose without the detective's knowledge.

SENTENCED TO BE HANGED ON FRIDAY, 13TH

Willie Jones, at the left, and Gervais Bloodworth, two Butler, Ga., youths, are shown facing Judge W. J. H. Search, in a court room at Griffin, Ga., where he sentenced them to be hanged on Friday, February 13th. The boys—they are mere children—were convicted of murdering and robbing Howard F. Underwood, prosperous neighbor in Butler, on December 3, 1923. Desperate efforts had been made to save their lives. Once, when their execution was postponed by an injunction, the unique claim was set up that, as they were not hanged on the date set for their execution, they were legally dead, and could not therefore be hanged.

To International News Service
On the Trail To Tanana, Alaska, Jan. 30.—Shortly after one o'clock this morning, Dan Green, third relay man in the dash with diphtheria serum to Nome, was 42 miles below Tampa. He passed Tanana at 12:30 o'clock, after driving all through the night. The weather was 45 degrees below zero.

Anchorage, Alaska, Jan. 30.—With strained muscles and harness in an effort to bring life-giving anti-toxin to diphtheria stricken Nome, the strongest, fleetest dogs in Alaska sped relief today in their "death race" northward.

Over snow and ice covered trails in the bitter cold of the Arctic, raced Dan Green, the third champion dog-racer of the north relaying serum to the disease-ravaged city.

Green left Hot Springs late yesterday afternoon and at night was reported not far from Tanana.

In the light sled which Green's dogs are pulling rested a 20 pound package of 1,000,000 anti-toxin units, which will save hundreds of lives in Nome, providing the race against disease is won.

The package was heavily wrapped in blankets to prevent freezing and breaking the containers.

"RED" GRANGE, STAR FOOTBALL AGE, WILL DO STUFF IN MOVIES

Urbana, Ills., Jan. 30.—"Red" Grange, star football player of the University of Illinois, is "going into the movies." His contract calls for four weeks' work at $2,000 a week. University officials will grant him a leave of absence. This much became known today from sources close to "big ten" officials.

The prestige Grange has brought to Illinois by his stellar gridiron performance is said to have influenced the concessions from University officials.

He is well advanced with his studies and his "leave of absence" will not affect his scholastic standing, it was said.

The date of Grange's departure for the studio has not been announced.

BLAME GAMBLE FOR BREAD PRICE RAISE

London, Jan. 30.—Wheat continued to hold London's interest today, particularly since the announcement that the price of bread would be advanced two cents a loaf, effective Monday.

The Daily Express which blamed the "Chicago gamble" for the skyrocketing prices of England's flour and bread, today charged that Russia is behind the wheat gamble.

The newspaper did not say today why, but said that Russian purchases all over the world, were driving up the price of wheat.

PARENT TEACHER DELEGATES HEAR STIRRING TALKS AT LAST SESSIONS OF CONVENTION HERE; 500 ATTEND

Dr. W. R. McChesney and Paul C. Stetson Among Principal Speakers—Resolution Opposes Cigarette Sale—Next Meeting Goes to Greenfield

BY ALICE FOLEY
The largest Parent-Teacher Association Congress ever held in Ohio closed Thursday evening after three sessions at the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium, Central High School, with plans to meet in Greenfield, O., next year.

At the opening of the afternoon session 509 delegates from southwestern Ohio had registered for the congress. The number did not include members of the Xenia Federated Parent-Teacher Association and city and county school officials who were in attendance during the day.

The largest groups of delegates were from Montgomery County and Cincinnati, more than 200 women coming from the former county and 109 from Cincinnati alone.

The state organization of the Parent-Teacher Association was represented by several officers including Mrs. J. G. Ruff, Cincinnati, state president; Mrs. F. J. Unkenholt, Cincinnati, state treasurer; Mrs. Ada M. Zugelter, Cincinnati, second district treasurer; Mrs. Neal Phelps Waddell, Greenfield, O., state corresponding secretary; Mrs. Hamilton Schaffer, Dayton, second state vice-president and chairman of P.-T. A. work in Montgomery County and Miss Ann Littell, Dayton, state chairman of kindergarten work in the P.-T. A.

The afternoon session opened with the continuance of reports from various organizations represented, given with an idea of presenting new plans of work over the state, to be adopted by other associations. Mrs. A. J. Barnett, Dayton, district chairman, presided over the afternoon session.

Clever stunts were employed by several organizations in attracting the attention of the congress to their city and district for the next convention. A spokesman for the Greenfield organization urged the convention for that city "as a piece of missionary work" since Greenfield is in the center of a weak P.-T. A. district. Other invitations were withdrawn in favor of the next convention there.

The State P.-T. A. convention will be held in Cincinnati, October 7, 8 and 9 at the Hotel Gibson.

The afternoon invocation was pronounced by the Rev. F. W. Stanton, of the First M. E. Church.

C. A. Waltz, superintendent of the Xenia City Schools, gave the address of welcome. He praised the work of the Xenia women in preparing for the convention, in opening his address.

"The parents can't shirk their responsibility to the children," he declared. "We have reached a crisis in American home life because of the lack of home influence and proper training."

"This crisis is plainly evident, I regret to say, in school management and what we need is the old-fashioned home influences that teach all virtues."

"The school can't cope with the situation alone. We need the co-operation of the parents and school patrons."

He emphasized the willingness of the schools to co-operate with all allied organizations. "We will fall short if the parents fail to do their duty," Mr. Waltz said.

He urged a resolution to be adopted by the convention, to be forwarded to the State Legislature, to seek financial relief for schools, and declared many buildings would close their doors unless some aid was found soon.

"There is a bill pending giving relief to the county schools, which surely need it," he said, "but the city schools also are at a critical period."

"If the principles of Christianity are not taught pupils, their lives will be ruined," he told the parents and teachers. "There is a plastic age when habits are formed and we need righteousness in our education on all sides. Teachers come and teachers go, as do playmates and companions but only one influence stays,—that of the home!" was one of the state-ments of the speaker.

"This influence will mold the child for years to come and will combat the real dangers that are confronting the boys and girls and we can't stoop to small differences to settle our troubles,—we need co-operation!"

Mrs. J. H. Benbow, president of the Xenia Federated Parent-Teacher Association, gave a short talk of welcome to the visitors on behalf of that organization. She declared the P.-T. A. to be the biggest thing in Xenia.

DAMAGED SUBMARINE TORN FROM ROCK BY GALE: SAVE PART OF CREW

SCANDAL PROBE TO DIE UNLESS WITNESS TALKS

Refusal of O'Connell to Testify Will Mean End Of Effort.

New York, Jan. 30.—If, as the young man himself has been at some pains to imply, Jimmy O'Connell will not appear in New York for the official investigation of the baseball scandal, the local district attorney's probe will die a painful death of malnutrition.

There can be little done without O'Connell, the only man mentioned in the expose from whom a confession was obtained. Local officials made no attempt to conceal this state of affairs today, as they prepared to make the best of Jimmy's sudden refusal to do business with them.

Barring extradition proceedings the district attorney's office has no alternative beyond proceeding with the hearing of minor witnesses from whom there is no hope of getting to the bottom of the affair.

Without actually saying as much, local officials have intimated they will not attempt to extradite O'Connell. He would have to be indicted by the grand jury in the first place and in the second, they have no assurance that an attempt at extradition would be successful.

They believe that the governor of California would not consent to O'Connell's extradition.

In coming here to testify, O'Connell would lay himself open to possible indictment, if convicted in the eyes of the law. He has asked for immunity. The district attorney will not grant it. Therefore O'Connell will stay where he is.

Whether the fact that Cozy Dolan, barred from baseball with O'Connell, saw fit to waive immunity in testifying yesterday, will have an effect on Jimmy's present attitude, local officials would not say.

They pointed out, however, that Dolan has little to worry about as long as O'Connell, his sole accuser, remains in California.

In fact, they made no attempt to evade the fact that neither Dolan nor any of the men accused could be convicted even with O'Connell present. According to the New York statute, no man can be convicted on the unsupported testimony of a self confessed conspirator.

It was therefore their original plan to attempt to force a confession from other witnesses, provided they had anything to confess and thus to reach an open clearing through the undergrowth by placing such a confession side by side with O'Connell's and letting the law do its worst.

MARRIAGE OF JACK DEMPSEY WILL END GREAT RING CAREER

Los Angeles, Jan. 30.—The greatest alliance ever known to the sport world that of Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns will come to an end on May 20 of this year, when Dempsey, perhaps the greatest boxing champion ever known, leads Estelle Taylor, film star, to the altar and takes her for his bride.

Such was the exclusive statement today from Dempsey, as he made known his plans for the future.

"I will never fight again," the champion declared. "That is one of the arrangements. Miss Taylor and I have agreed upon. My ring career is ended. And with it ends my contract with Jack Kearns, who has been my manager for more than eight years."

FIRE DESTROYS BUSINESS SECTION OF TOWN WITH TOTAL LOSS ESTIMATED AT $250,000

Steubenville, O., Jan. 30.—Flames which destroyed the business section of Irondale, fifteen miles north of here last night, were brought under control early today. The fire destroyed nine business houses, a number of residences and garages and damaged the Banfield Clay Company's plant, entailing a loss totalling $250,000. The village had no water supply and a bucket brigade, composed of nearly the entire population was credited with saving the remainder of the town. Calls for help were received at Steubenville, East Liverpool and Wellsville, but on account of the heavy snows, trucks were unable to make the long run.

Faced with a water shortage, townspeople piled snow around their homes to prevent flames from catching.

LEGISLATORS SCAN BOOKS FOR OBSOLETE PROHIBITION LAWS

Old Restrictions on Sale Of Liquor Will Be Repealed.

Columbus, O., Jan. 30.—Legislators were scanning the thick volumes of the general code today in search of eighty-one sections dealing with the restrictions on the sale of liquor made obsolete by the coming of prohibition and to be repealed under a bill offered by Senator Garver, Holmes County, scheduled for reference to senate committee next Monday night, following second reading.

The old prohibitions included everything from barring the sale of liquor during a riot to the provision that nothing but cheese, crackers and pretzels could be served as a free lunch.

Other senate measures scheduled for reference and second reading Monday night, include a general resolution by Senator Farnsworth, Lucas, proposing an amendment to the state constitution prohibiting issue of bonds for short term improvements and limiting the life of bonds to the probable life of the improvement for which they are issued.

A group of bills was scheduled for reference after second reading today in the house. They include:

By Representative Krueger, Cuyahoga, providing for voting at general elections on proposed bond issues, levying taxes above the fifteen mill limitation, for school and other public buildings and requiring that the ballot designate the amount of tax rate increase which would be caused by the issue if carried by Schmuelling, Hamilton, emergency bill authorizing county commissioners to lease, operate and maintain any general hospital owned by a municipality within the county, this covering the lease to Hamilton county of the general hospital, Cincinnati, by Penny, Montgomery, providing for special classes for teaching mentally deficient, or retarded children, and authorizing the state to appropriate $40 annually for each such pupil; by Lipp, Hamilton, appropriating $20,000 for erection of a memorial to the late president William Henry Harrison at North Bend; by Davidson, Summit, requiring stock, health and accident insurance companies to possess $100,000 capital subscribed and $25,000 paid in stock before being permitted to operate in Ohio.

The senate will convene again at 7:30 o'clock next Monday night, having adjourned Thursday afternoon over the week end.

UNDER SEA BOAT SWEEPED AWAY AS RESCUE IS TRIED

Twenty Men of Original 36 Left on Board—Rocks Tore Hole in Boat

Portsmouth, N. H., Jan. 30.—The United States naval submarine S-48 with 36 officers and men aboard, stranded on Little Cove reef in the outer harbor, was riding out the end of a heavy gale this morning. Breeches buoy apparatus was set up near Fort Stark at New Castle, but high seas and a howling wind prevented its use.

Part of the crew of the stranded United States submarine S-48 were rescued today by coast guardsmen and tugs. They were taken off the submarine as she left the rocks at the mouth of Little Harbor here and drifted a mile and a half off shore in a howling northeast gale.

A skeleton crew of about 20 officers and men was left aboard the undersea boat. Radio messages from the ships standing by the stricken naval craft, indicated that she was in danger of going down and that she had a hole stove in her bottom.

Naval tugs and chartered craft were standing by the S-48 this morning, ready to take off the remaining members of the crew at a moment's notice.

As the tide slackened, however, efforts were to be made, radiograms to shore from the rescue ships said, to tow the S-48 to the Portsmouth navy yard.

In a blinding snowstorm, obscuring vision and in the teeth of a biting northeast gale, the big naval submarine was tossed up last night on the rocks at the mouth of Little Harbor.

Through the spuming foam and the swirling snow, coast guardsmen on shore first saw her red rockets of distress and the naval officer at the wireless station at the local navy yard picked up her call of "S. O. S."

Coast guardsmen risked their lives in the fifty mile an hour gale to launch a lifeboat to go to the rescue of the stranded submarine.

As dawn began to break a breeches buoy apparatus was set up at Fort Stark, New Castle. But high seas prevented its use.

Fears for the brave naval men aboard the submersible were expressed on all sides among the watchers on shore.

Tractors had smashed their way through snow drifts on the beach roads to Fort Stark beach. In their wake came motor ambulances, carrying blankets and medical supplies.

Lights went out on the submarine and this gave the shore watchers more concern. This morning, however as the tide came in the big under-sea boat began to ease off the rocks at Little Harbor. Later she started to float seaward. By this time rescue ships had come up. It was deemed wise to take off part of the crew. The twenty men left aboard were manning the pumps. It was thought the S-48 had a crack in one of her seams and was leaking slightly. Giant seas were breaking over the submersible as she lay riding the gale a mile and a half off shore.

WOMAN SHOT THREE TIMES BY HUSBAND

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 30.—With three bullet wounds in her body, Mrs. Loretta Monroe, 42, is in a critical condition in a local hospital today. The woman was shot last night by her husband, following a quarrel that climaxed his admitted two day de-bauch.

After shooting the woman, the gun was wrenched from him as he pleaded for it to be returned to "shoot himself." The woman ran a block from the home and collapsed. Monroe was placed under arrest. There are nine children in the family.

HEAVIEST SNOW IN QUARTER CENTURY HITS NEW YORK STATE; METROPOLIS HAS SLUSH

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Eighteen hours of continuous snowfall yesterday and today buried Syracuse under its heaviest blanket in twenty-five years. Thousands walked to work through the three foot drifts this morning.

Train, trolley and taxicab service was suspended. More than sixty trolleys were stalled. Early estimates placed the number of abandoned automobiles at 1500. Three hundred and fifty persons narrowly escaped death when the roof of the Elmwood theatre caved in two minutes after the close of the last performance.

Blanketed under a foot of snow, and with a wind blowing at times 50 and 60 miles an hour, all traffic in Albany including trolley, rail and automobile was completely paralyzed. Streets were blocked by huge drifts in some places eight and 10 feet deep. Two feet of snow fell last night and today in Olean, N. Y. A wind this morning has piled the snow into six foot drifts in many places there. Heavy falls of snow in the Rochester-Syracuse sections caused delay in arrival of westbound trains in Buffalo this morning. Central and Lacawanna trains were delayed from one to three hours. Erie trains came in on time. About four inches of snow fell here last night.

Binghamton, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Binghamton was practically snowbound. More than 20 inches of snow lay over the city. Eighteen inches had fallen in the last twenty-four hours and the skies were still shedding a light fall. Traffic was moving but badly disrupted. Electric cars between Binghamton and Endicott, were snowbound over night. New York, Jan. 30.—New York skidded and slushed to work today. Following an inch and a half snowfall late yesterday, heavy rain last night turned streets and sidewalks into treacherous paths of slush and ice. Although 10,000 men were reported at work clearing the streets, the continued fall and freezing weather has made the work difficult.

GRANGERS REJOICE IN DEFEAT OF LABOR CURB AT MEETING

The defeat of the Child Labor Law heightened the good spirit prevailing at the all-day meeting of Pomona Grange at Yellow Springs Grange Hall, Wednesday. Farm organizations took an active stand against the proposed legislation against child labor and its defeat spelled success for their efforts.

Two candidates were initiated into the fifth degree of the grange work during the morning session. The afternoon session opened with music by the Xenia Grange orchestra, piano solos by Miss Ella Fogg, Yellow Springs and readings by Joseph Smith, Caesar Creek.

Mrs. Walter St. John, Jamestown, gave an interesting account of a hunting trip in Canada last fall and closed her talk by reciting three original poems. The session was marked with heated discussion of the gasoline tax on all motor vehicles and the remarks closed with a unanimous vote in favor of the proposed tax. Edward Meredith of Yellow Springs, submitted a resolution that the Grange send a congratulatory message to the Legislature for its stand on the child labor question.

A "booster committee" was appointed to assist in furthering Grange work in Greene County, composed of: John Munger, Beaver Grange; W. J. Engle, Charity Grange; Joseph E. Hutchison, Xenia Grange; Mrs. Edna Kuriger, Fairfield Valley Grange; Joseph Smith, Caesar Creek Grange; Edward Meredith, Yellow Springs Grange; J. F. Gordon, Jamestown Grange and P. W. Van Pelt, Spring Valley Grange. The committee represents each Grange in the County.

Sentiment of the farmers expressed at the meeting, that the truck law, concerning the weight on trucks, on highways, was not impartial, resulted in a committee, composed of C. W. Mott, Jamestown; Walter St. John, Jamestown and S. H. Shawhan, Beaver Creek, being appointed to seek fairer legislation.

C. W. Mott, Jamestown, Joseph Smith, Caesar Creek and Kenneth Fogg, Miami Grange, were appointed members of a committee to have charge of the Grange exhibits at the Greene County Fair next fall.

The next Pomona meeting will be held the last Wednesday in March with the new Spring Valley Grange.

Real reasons why legislators are voting against the proposed Child Labor Amendment will be stated by the Rev. James P. Lytle, in a special sermon at the First U. P. Church, Sunday night.

The true reasons why the amendment should be ratified will be presented together with accurate facts and figures. The Rev. Mr. Lytle says that he is amazed at the action of the Ohio lower house the past week and the public utterances of popular lecturers in opposition to this measure.

He feels that the "wolf cries" to parents, farmers, tax-payers and others are not only false but "propaganda conducted largely by the enemies of Christian America."

Your Income Tax

Traveling expenses form an important item in the returns of many taxpayers. The revenue act of 1924 provides that traveling expenses, including railroad fares and the entire amount expended for meals and lodging when away from home solely on a business trip may be deducted by a taxpayer from gross income in determining net income upon which the tax is to be assessed. On a journey for other than business purposes, railroad fares are personal expenses and the cost of meals and lodgings are living expenses. Therefore, they can not be deducted.

If a salesman is not reimbursed by his employer for his traveling expenses, or if employed on a commission basis with no expense allowance, his entire traveling expenses may be deducted from gross income. If he receives a salary and is also paid for traveling expenses, he should include in his return of gross income the amount of repayment and may deduct such expenses.

A salesman receiving a salary and an allowance for meals and lodging should include the allowance in gross income, from which may be deducted the cost of meals and lodging.

Only such traveling expenses as are "reasonable and necessary in the conduct of the business and directly attributable to it" may be deducted. Examples are payment for the use of a sample room, or the customers.

A taxpayer claiming a deduction for traveling expenses must attach to his return a statement showing the nature of the business in which engaged; number of days away from home during the taxable year on account of business; total amount of expenses incident to meals and lodging while absent from home on business; total amount of other expenses incident to travel and claimed as a deduction. Among the "other expenses" are tips, which are held to be a part of traveling expenses, provided they are reasonable in amount. Claims for traveling expenses must be substantiated when required by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue by records showing in detail the amount and nature of the expenses incurred.

Suburbanites who commute daily from their homes to their places of business are not permitted to deduct the cost of transportation, it being a personal expense.

GREENE COUNTIAN CITED FOR FAILURE TO FILE EXPENSES

Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, Yellow Springs, representing the No-Tobacco League of Ohio, is among the 107 lobbyists who have failed to appear before the last legislature and file expense accounts within the time limit, which expires Saturday at midnight.

A joint resolution calling upon the secretary of state to certify to the attorney general for prosecution the names of the lobbyists who failed to file, was adopted by the senate Thursday.

Senator J. Lowry Miller, Middletown, amended the resolution presented by Senator George H. Bender, Cleveland, to provide this. Bender's resolution merely provided that the senate be given names of lobbyists registered for this session.

Individuals or concerns found guilty of not filing accounts as provided by law are subject to a fine of from $200 to $5,000 and imprisonment of from one to two years. Secretary of State Brown and Attorney General Crabbe said they would take prompt action.

Records show that of the 107 lobbyists registered for the last legislative session, only twenty-eight so far have filed accounts. Mrs. Flatter is among the long list who must file accounts by Saturday or be held accountable.

First—Stop Pain Don't suffer for an hour

When pain comes, stop it. Be ever ready to stop it quickly. Don't suffer any pain which a moment of rubbing can stop.

These include pains allied to rheumatism, to soreness, to lameness, to chest colds. They can be stopped at once. For 65 years they have been stopped by rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

As for curing the cause of the trouble, Nature usually does that. But don't suffer while you wait. St. Jacobs Oil causes counter irritation. Then it draws the blood to the surface to relieve congestion. In a minute or two you feel that the pain has ebbed. You rejoice in relief.

Perhaps there are other ways. But this is the one way that millions have used—have proved it for 65 years. You can rely on it. Your druggist guarantees it. Why take chances when you know that nothing can be better?

Don't wait for an emergency. It may mean a night of pain. Have St. Jacobs Oil ever ready. Apply it as soon as you feel a pain, or a chest cold. Be ready to soothe it, to check it at once. There will never be a better way. Go get it now to be prepared when pain comes. It may save you and yours many unhappy hours. Rheumatism Backache Lameness Chest Colds Lumbago Soreness

SACRIFICE

Across the wind-swept wastes of Alaska, ardy men are musing dog teams to Nome, bearing the life-giving serum needed there to check the ravages of a diphtheria epidemic.

The situation has all of the elements of a Jack London novel, with strong men dropping into the spirit of sacrifice, and heroically facing terrible conditions, impelled by a spirit of humanity.

It proves too, that truth is stranger than fiction, for in this trans-country race with death, are facts which no novelist would dare touch. It has the deep elements of humanity, sympathy, unselfishness, responding to the call of distress that makes the world kin.

Here are men with rough exteriors, baring their souls to show that the milk of human kindness runs strong beneath many an unimposing appearance. It is romance, adventure and action and not a current novelist with the power to express it in its deeper terms.

WHEAT

To reverse an old adage, it is a good wind that blows no one ill.

The increase in the price of wheat, is a boon to farmers, heralding that prosperity that has been promised them ever since the bottom dropped out of things after the World War.

A top price for wheat will thus blow good to the producer, even while it wafts gentle misfortune in the path of the consumer. Bakers, because of this wheat raise, are preparing to increase the price of bread.

All of which goes to prove that somebody has to pay for everything.

IF THE BRITISH FIND A REMEDY, PLEASE NOTIFY AND OBLIGE

The British are a conservative people and their history shows they will stand for a good deal of tyranny before rising in revolution. Still, they have limits to their patience, as the fate of certain high handed persons testifies, and there are rumblings just now that indicate those limits are being encroached upon by that modern tyrant known as the after-dinner speaker.

We gather from the English newspapers that his case is receiving a good deal of attention, from which it is assumed he has been keeping British subjects up pretty late at night. So conservative a paper as the London Times has been moved to make the revolutionary proposal that after-dinner speakers should be transformed into before-dinner speakers, holding that if speakers are required to perform before the eating begins they couldn't possibly keep diners from their soup more than a few minutes. No speaker could be heard probably after the soup came on.

This is a subject in which Americans are interested also. They probably suffer from this form of tyranny as much as the British. There is no crueler sight than that of a company of diners trying to invite the comfortable processes of digestion while being addressed by a speaker who has nothing to say and wants to take all the time until midnight to say it. There has been almost no reform of the evil in this country in recent generations. Mark Twain tells of being on a speaking list at a dinner to General Grant where he didn't get on his feet until 2 o'clock in the morning. It was experiences like that, probably, that account for the fact that Grant never smiled. The evil may not be quite so bad now, but it is not much better. The number of persons willing to get on their feet after dinner, on the slightest urge, is still very large and the number who know when to sit down is still very small.

If the British work out any remedy for this tyranny that a law abiding country like America can embrace, it will be ready to sign a declaration of independence with the old country and make it an entente. Of course, we should prefer there should be no violence. We like to be legal. Still, when in the course of human events— Kansas City Star.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

THE UNUSUAL MAN

He never said a hasty word,
He never did a thing absurd,
He never wrote a letter stout
And wished he hadn't sent it out,
He never rushed to grab a seat
To see a lady on her feet;
He made mistakes, but they were not
The common blunders of the lot.

He never tossed a lighted match
On stuff which readily would catch
He never had an accident
Which careful driving would prevent;
He never, like the most of us,
Became embroiled in row or fuss,
And for some trifling place to get
Suffered long periods of regret.

He saved himself much grief and woe
Which ordinary mortals know,
He never did a deed unwise
For which he must apologize,
He never blindly rushed ahead
Where angels would have feared to tread,
Or 'neath enthusiasm's sway
Promised beyond his power to pay.

Strange man! Yes, strange, and it is true
Of him the world has very few.

I say it now behind his back,
He had one gift which many lack.
Time to consider well he took,
Before he leaped he stopped to look;
By folly he was seldom cursed,
Because he did his thinking first.

Every family loves "pancakes."

Some housewives make them one way, some another. I am going to give various recipes for this delicious dish:

Wholewheat Pancakes:

Beat one egg light and add to it two cups of sweet, cold milk. Mix together three cups of wholewheat flour, one cup of ordinary white bread flour, a pinch of salt and three teaspoons of baking powder. Combine the dry and the liquid mixtures, beat well, then drop by tablespoonfuls into a hot greased pan turning when "dimples" appear on top and when pancake is brown underneath.

Old-Fashioned Flannel Cakes:

Mix and sift together one pint of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, one-half teaspoon of sugar and a pinch of salt. Also mix together the beaten yolk of one egg and three-fourths of a pint of sweet, cold milk. Combine the dry and wet mixtures, then beat well and add one-half tablespoon of melted butter. Last fold in one stiffly-beaten white of an egg. Drop onto a greased pan or griddle as above directed. (Note: If you have an aluminum, steel or soapstone griddle it will require no grease at all. It should be hot enough to hiss when the batter touches it.)

Cornmeal Griddlecakes:

Mix together and sift three-quarters of a cup of yellow cornmeal, one and one-fourth cups of ordinary white bread flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, two tablespoons of sugar and one and one-half teaspoons of salt. Now also mix together one and one-half cups of sweet, cold milk and one beaten egg. Combine the liquid mixture with the dry mixture, then stir in two tablespoons of melted butter. Beat well before cooking as above described on a griddle or in a pan.

Hominy Griddlecakes:

Sift two cups of ordinary white bread flour and rub into it, with the finger-tips, two tablespoons of butter or lard. Stir into this two cups of thick, sour milk. Let this mixture stand several hours (over night is even better) then add to it one cup of either hot or cold cooked hominy. Also add, with the hominy, one heaping teaspoon of soda. Beat well before frying as above described. (Note: Any kind of cooked cereal may be used in place of the hominy.)

Canned Corn Pancakes:

Turn a quart-sized can of corn out into a bowl and mash well with a potato-masher. Then add to it one cup of flour, one-half cup of cold milk, one beaten egg, a pinch each of salt and pepper, and one tablespoon of sugar. Drop this batter onto a hot, greased griddle or into a pan as directed above.

KEEP STUDYING

People who keep thinking are usually happy. It is when a man becomes a drifter and a floater down the stream that he becomes dissatisfied and discouraged.

Every human being should keep studying all the time.

Not only should you study along some line in which you are interested but you should take up some line or subject about which you know nothing. It is surprising how little any of us know. To tap a new vein of knowledge is like being refreshed with a cup of cold water on a hot day. The entire mind reacts to the new discoveries of ideas and bits of knowledge.

Keep studying about the things you are most interested in and then keep adding new interests outside your present work or occupation.

Every time a new set of muscles is developed in your body, every other part of the body is benefited. In like manner every time you add to what you already know, all other knowledge becomes enriched.

To keep studying your friends is to improve your friendships. To keep studying art is to increase your appreciation for all beautiful things. To keep studying books is to come closer to all mankind. One of the greatest secrets of success is to learn the fact that only as you do your work and fill your niche better than anyone has ever done it before, do you really grow into a commanding place of power.

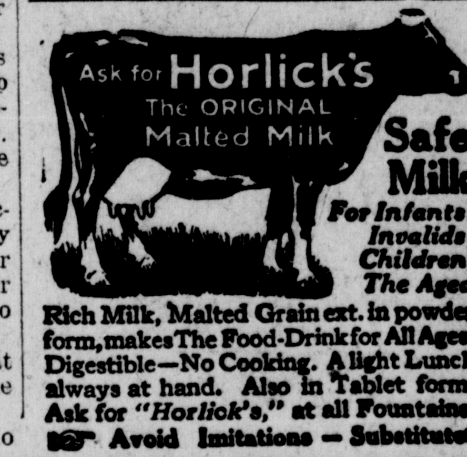

It's that "Keep Studying" that smooths the way and lights up the path for progress.

In this connection it is well to do something each day that you would rather not do at all. For to all of us there always come times when we have too many things that we didn't expect but are compelled to do. Keep studying. It helps us to meet all the affairs of life gracefully.

GOD IS HOUSEHOLD GOD EVANGELIST TELLS AUDIENCE AT JOINT REVIVAL SERVICES

"God is a household God," said Evangelist George Hugh Birney at the First Methodist Church Thursday night, in delivering his great sermon on "The Tragedy of the Empty House."

It was visitors' night, and notwithstanding the heavy snow and various conflicts, the auditorium was well filled. Mr. Stillings, the song leader, got the people to singing inspiringly. As a solo he sang "In The Garden Alone."

This was a well chosen selection to precede the message of Dr. Birney, based upon the text, "Go Out into the Highways and Hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled," Luke 14:23. The evangelist was at his best, and spoke eloquently upon the excuses given today for not coming to God's house, and surrendering one's life to the will of God.

"God is a family God," he said, "and His heart longs for all His children to be in His house. An empty house is a tragedy. In Yonkers, where I used to hold a pastorate, I frequently passed a large, well furnished house, where an old man lived all alone, and a sense of loneliness came over me as I thought of the tragedy of a big house with no family. Touring in New England, I visited the 'House of Little Women,' the home of the fam-

PAIR UNHURT WHEN CARS COLLIDE ON PIKE NEAR DAYTON

George Pillsbury, Jr., and Elizabeth Mullen, this city, miraculously escaped serious injury when the Nash coupe, in which they were riding, collided with a Buick sedan on the Dayton pike, just outside the corporate limits of Dayton at 6:30 o'clock Thursday night. No one was injured.

Pillsbury was driving toward Xenia, and hit the right fender of the oncoming Buick, throwing his machine into the ditch where the car smashed into a telephone pole.

The Buick, owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Burns, Grafton Avenue, Dayton, was being driven toward Dayton by Mrs. Burns, who claimed she was blinded by the strong lights on Pillsbury's car and drove too near the left hand side of the road.

The hood on the Nash was smashed, the brake spring broken and the car badly damaged. The Buick was also damaged slightly.

Pillsbury declared he had the lights on his machine dimmed. His machine was taken to the Zimmerman garage for repairs.

MORGAN ADDRESSES ANTIOCH STUDENTS

Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, delivered a talk in assembly Thursday morning in which he pointed out the similarity between the animal processes of thinking and the thought processes of a good many humans. Mr. Morgan said in part:

"A large part of our convictions is the reaction from some experience and is not the result of reasoning. The habit of living by blind belief is common. The part of education is to break it up. Greatness largely begins with the habit of thinking things through alone."

"The deciding facts by the drift of opinion is a danger to civilization as it tends to uniformity and a lack of originality and initiative."

At a meeting at the Engineers' Club, Dayton, President Morgan spoke to the "bosses" of Antioch students in Dayton Thursday night.

THIRD M. E. CHURCH

The campaign for souls is now on. Mrs. B. Smith is here, and all who hear her will know she is here. Come and hear this wonderful woman.—G. L. Sheppard, Pastor.

ous Alcott sisters. Many pleasant memories linger about that historic spot, but the famous authors are gone, and the house is one of desolation. It saddened my heart. Also at Salem, Mass., I visited Hawthorne's "House of Seven Gables." It was empty. Love and Life once reigned there. Now all was gone, and strange sounds and echoes greeted you.

"There is a tragedy about a human heart without God living in it. There is greater tragedy about God's house, with immortal souls estranged from it. God longs for His wayward children, and would have His house filled. Why is God's house not filled?" Dr. Birney then pictured the excuses made by the three classes in the story of the text for not coming to the feast. The same excuses exist today.

"There is a great difference between an excuse and a reason," said he. "There is no reason under the sun why men ought not come to God, but there are many excuses given today as in Christ's day. There was the man who had bought a piece of ground as if that was any reason why he should not come. I knew a man who said he owned 160 acres of land, but instead the 160 acres owned him. All his time and energy were given to that piece of dirt, and he could not see God. Another man had bought a yoke of oxen, and he wanted to see if he had been cheated. In one case real estate kept the man away from God; in the other it was chattie. In one of my churches I missed a man from church, who had been coming, and I inquired about his absence, and he informed me that he had bought a flivver. That flivver got between him and God. He just kept going on in that flivver, with his whole family, until later he was still on the way to hell, not in a flivver, but in a twelve cylinder Packard."

"The real estate is all right; the oxen are all right, and the flivver is all right, but even right things may keep us out of God's house. The third man married a wife, and therefore could not come. Even sacred companionship may keep us away from God. The gang idea, the group idea, may deter us from coming to God. 'All we like sheep have gone astray.' It matters not what it may be, a pack of cards, the jazz dance, the race course, whatever it is that keeps us out of God's house, will lead us to hell."

Dr. Birney made a strong plea for men and women to let nothing stand between them and God. He closed with the story told by Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman of a dying mother. Friends gathered about her bed. She was one of those souls always concerned for the welfare of her children. As her husband leaned over to catch the last words, she whispered, "Are all the children in, father?" "Yes," said the father, "they are all in, all in." "Then," said the dying woman, "I can now go to sleep." "God is like that," said the Evangelist. "He longs for His children to be in the house with Himself. Are we all in? Come in tonight ere it be too late."

There will be no services Saturday. Sunday the evangelist will speak four times.

Sunday Program — 9:15 Sunday School. Dr. Birney will speak on "When the King Passed By." 10:30 subject, "The Broken Harp of God." 2:30 Men and Boys only, "The Devil's Workshop." 7:00 "The Tragedy of the Eleventh Hour."

HEAVY SEAS LASH SHIP GROUND ON JERSEY SAND BAR

Seabright, N. J. Jan. 30.—Mountainous seas today lashed the disabled four masted schooner Conmack aground on a sandbar at the eastern end of Sandy Hook.

All through the night the ship was driven farther upon the bar. A shift in the wind early today, however, restored hopes of coastguards that Captain Joseph Barnes and four members of his crew on board the schooner may be saved.

The captain and his men refused to leave the vessel although coast guards dropped a breeches buoy line over its decks and overed to take them off.

BE PATIENT WITH MAIL CARRIERS FOR TIME SAYS FRAZER

Xenians are asked to ignore any small delays in delivery of their mail for several days due to the fact that city carriers are as yet unaccustomed to the new schedule which went into effect Tuesday.

City carriers now are forced to acquaint themselves with eight regular routes instead of the former number, seven, and some difficulty primarily due to the severe weather.

For Colds, Grip or Influenza and as a Preventive, take Laxative BROMO QUININE Tablets. A Safe and Proven Remedy. The box bears the signature of E. W. Grove. 30c.

A GROUCH NOT WANTED

There is nothing so harmful to success as being a grouch. Stomach, liver and intestinal troubles make one grouchy. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy will help overcome these and usually gives complete results.

Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. At all drug-gists.

may be experienced to adapting themselves to conditions.

The new schedule, according to Postmaster C. S. Frizer, was effective at orders from the postal department at Washington D. C., following the increase in the number of city carriers. The local department now has eight regular carriers.

Better service and quicker deliveries will inevitably result from the change, it is said, and patience on the part of Xenians will be rewarded by prompt deliveries of mail matter.

With Amazing Speed It Stops That Tough Hang On Cough That Racks Your Whole Body

For simple coughs any simple sweet sugary cough syrup will probably do.

But when you want to throw out of your system one of those old timers, that simply won't be conquered, but lingers on and on causing sleepless nights and days of torment then you've just got to have a real cough medicine.

Then you must ask your druggist for a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion for the harder and tougher and tighter they come the more joy Broncholine gets in knocking them out.

Broncholine isn't a cheap cough conqueror mind you, for first raters are never cheap. But if you are one of the unlucky ones that a persistent, health destroying cough is pushing towards the grave, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes right hold and soothes the terrible soreness.

Often three or four doses brings blessed relief and half a bottle forces the most stubborn cough into submission.

"A bottle of magic" one old man calls Broncholine Emulsion. He was all worn out and ready to give up when a friend brought him the good news about Broncholine.

Don't let a cough hang on—it's a dangerous company—Get rid of it quick. Ask Sayre & Hemphill or any up to the times druggist for a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion. It's a good medicine to have around the house because it contains no chloroform or dope and often two or three doses will stop any ordinary cough. adv

This Sincere Letter For Surgeons, Physicians, Dentists

We are calling the attention of the good people of Xenia and vicinity to the most powerful, non-poisonous, non-alcoholic, non-irritating Antiseptic known Kojene.

In this newspaper we will tell the people, and especially the ailing people, to whom it will prove a blessing, just exactly what physical ills it will help, and in spite of our enthusiasm for this wonderful antiseptic we will stick to the truth in every statement we make.

We will not exaggerate—although some of the things we write may seem exaggerated.

Nothing equals Kojene for irrigation of the antrum; for Pyorrhea and Gingivitis; for Stomatitis, Trench Mouth, pus pockets and all cases of infection.

Kojene so we will tell more people who need it, is four times as powerful as an antiseptic than Carbolic Acid. It is much more powerful than poisonous bichloride of mercury, and will not burn or even irritate the tenderest membrane.

Ye will tell the readers of this paper of its wonderful and quickly effective action in Tonsillitis and sore throat; of how completely it drives out the offensive mucus of catarrh and thoroughly cleans the entire nasal tract.

We will tell them of its remarkable success in the treatment of cankers in the mouth and how quickly it succeeds when used for Eczema, itching skin, ulcers, boils and skin eruptions.

And last but by no means least, we will tell them that as a germ destroying mouth wash it is as far ahead of the highly flavored and bubbling kind as daylight is to candlelight.

It is seventy-five times as powerful as the weak kinds whose popularity seems to lie in their weakness and the ignorance of those who use them.

A sixty cent bottle (6 dimes) of Kojene, will make one-half gallon of a stronger, better and more efficient mouth wash than the high priced doubtful ones you buy ready made.

Medical men like to join in an effort to drive menacing poisons from the home and give their support to any great and worthy preparation that destroys pernicious germs and helps humanity—that is just what Kojene does.

In six ounce bottles at Sayre & Hemphill's and every progressive druggist in America. 60c with the understanding that money will be returned if any purchaser is dissatisfied.

LEADS CAPTURE OF ESCAPED PRISONER

A wild chase, started by automobile and concluded on foot, brought Nooks, colored, escaped prisoner, back into the clutches of the law yesterday morning.

Nooks was recaptured by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn and George Pender, and Patrolmen Charles Adams and Fred Jones. He faces incarceration in the County Jail to work out a fine of $1,000 and costs for bottling some time ago, which he escaped serving.

The officers were on their way to Nooks' home near Wilberforce Thursday morning, when Nooks passed them in an automobile driving toward Xenia. The officers turned and followed after Nooks refused to stop, firing several shots at the tires of his machine as the two machines raced into Xenia west on Church Street to Mechanic where Nook's machine was wrecked in the yard of a residence when he attempted to turn into Mechanic Street at high speed.

Leaping from the machine, Nooks, through Mechanic to Market, and, while officers, whose machine narrowly averted overturning at the corner, followed on foot, Patrolmen commanded another machine to keep up the chase, and caught Nooks hiding behind shrubbery in the yard of The R. A. Kelly Company offices on West Market Street. It was from Deputy Sheriff George Spencer, who helped in the arrest, that Nooks escaped a year ago. He got away while being taken from the County Jail to a doctor's office and police decorated the station house with a framed picture of Nooks running away and Spencer chasing him. The officer has now earned the right, since Nooks' re-capture, to take the picture down.

Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin made an unsuccessful attempt to capture Nooks at his home near Wilberforce Wednesday night, but he evaded the officer.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

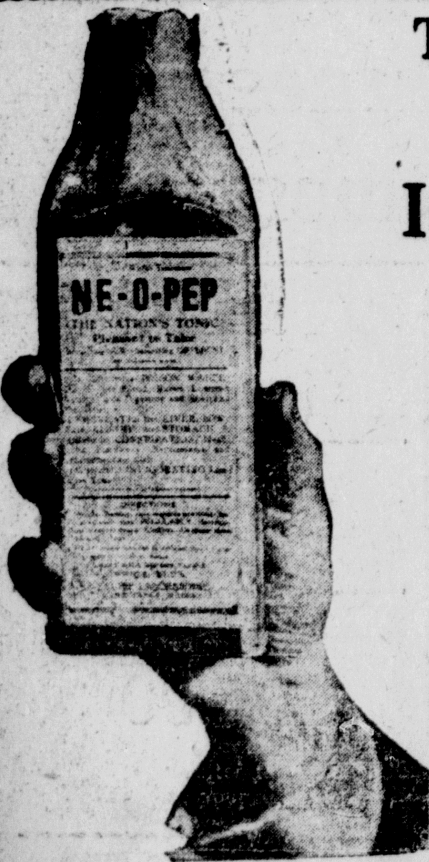

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

For Catarrhal Conditions

Inflammation of the throat and chest. BRAZILIAN BALM is excellent. Dissolves the phlegm, taking away the cause for irritating cough. Used since 1878.

Mr. Hammel was the Purina representative in the ton litter contest that won the world's record in 1923, and also in 1924. By the way, both these world records were made in Texas. Why not make the next world record in Ohio? And in Greene County?

The Xenia Farmers' Exchange

The blanket of snow will prove a life sayer for the wheat. Thus far it has been a severe winter on wheat. A two dollar price makes money for some of the speculators but means little to the dirt farmer with a mean empty wheat bin and a deteriorating crop in the field.

At the Spring Valley institute, McPherson School stood third in the spelling contest with Harper Billmyre as the spelller.

Sale prices are looking up with approach of spring. Horses are coming back to a more reasonable price and cows are bringing good money.

dancing, "stunts," concerts, and plays prepared for the evenings.

Back in 1915, at Ohio's third annual Farmers' Week, the program listed for the five days about 75 events and 45 speakers. This year the 20-page program names close to 350 events and 200 speakers.

Information on rooms and board available to Farmers' Week visitors is published on the inside front cover of the completed program. A list of addresses of rooms for rent in the university district will be available on the campus. College officials also announce completion of arrangements for meals on the campus, for checking parcels and baggage, for reduced railroad rates, for special traffic regulations on the campus. There will be a rest room for women and a nursery

MAY BE BEAUTIFUL BUT YOU'LL HAVE TO SHOW CITY CLEANERS

The heaviest snowfall of the winter gave the streets of Xenia a thick blanket that city street cleaners did their best to erase Thursday.

With the mercury fluctuating from a point about fifteen degrees above in the early morning to around the twenty degree mark by noon, a steady snowfall continued throughout the morning and afternoon. A bright warm sun Wednesday broke the back of the severe cold wave that had forced Xenians to hunt their heavy top coats Tuesday but changeable weather pushed the mercury down to a lower mark Thursday morning.

The strong north wind gave way to a steady fall of "the beautiful" which kept residents occupied throughout the day in following out "sidewalk cleaning" orders of the police.

The city street cleaning department worked the entire day keeping the gutters clear from snow with varied success.

and that it has but one purpose, that of child welfare, and building character.

Mrs. Hamilton Schaffer, Dayton second state vice-president, represented the state organization in a short address. She praised Xenia's position in the midst of educational influences, that of Cedarville, Wilmington, Antioch and Wilberforce Colleges.

"The P.T. A. is striving for a better parenthood" she told her audience "and is seeking a solution to the problems of childhood."

She expressed the belief that district P.T. A. conferences were the foundation of the state and national organization. "There should be a P.T. A. in every school in the country, as it is an essential part of education," she said.

Mrs. Charles Adair, Xenia, sang the state P.T. A. song and was joined in the last chorus by the entire audience. She was accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Perrill.

Paul C. Stetson, superintendent of the Dayton City Schools, was the principal speaker at the afternoon session. In opening his talk he spoke of the splendid work of the Dayton P.T. A. in "putting over" the four million dollar school bond issue in Dayton recently.

"We have been laboring under the misapprehension, after leaving school that we have been educated," Mr. Stetson said. "It is a phenomena in America that every pupil leaves high school and college with the thought that he is thoroughly educated."

"Our further faith in the schools is shown by the amount of money that is annually being expended on our institutions and the number of people that are enrolling. There is a steady increase in the number of pupils and the courses of study have been correspondingly widened and it is harder now to get a degree."

"There are many by-ways of education today and it is difficult for the student to keep to the main-line of studies. Every line of education is offered in the schools today and greater attention is paid to the health of the pupils and the athletics assume a large field."

He praised the vocational subjects offered in American schools and said that "possibly the day will come when a course of beauty parlor work will be adopted by the schools."

"With the demands placed on school officials as to what the public wants in school courses—will our present system produce an educated people?" Mr. Stetson asked.

"If the expenditure of money means anything, America is the best educated country in the world. This is perhaps due to the fact that in this country success is measured in dollars and cents. It is not essential that the boy or girl go to college to obtain fame in his or her life work. The chances made by a college education to reach fame are small," he declared, "which a glance over the names of America's great will show."

"There is a difference between being trained and being educated," Mr. Stetson declared. "There will never be an equal to the individual care that is given the child in the home. We can't expect the schools to complete the pupil's education," he said, "experience in life and the after environment is the real education."

"The greatest educational institution is not the college or the high school—it is the home—that is the real educational foundation. The attitude of the home shifting the responsibility of the child to the school is the cause of anxiety to school officials," he said.

"Parents select with care an automobile but leave the choice of playmates for their children out of their scheme of things. The church should apply a large part of the education. Spiritual development for the child is needed today. The educational process cannot be completed without provision for spiritual development."

"The responsibility for intellectual and spiritual development does not rest with the schools but belongs to the home. This is one of the new demands on education," Mr. Stetson closed.

Mrs. Edith McClure Patterson, state thrift chairman charmed her audience with a decisive and rapid-fire address. She called her subject "Making Motherhood Fashionable" and declared that "motherhood is the biggest and holiest responsibility and the most important privilege of existence."

"The American woman and mother will determine where America will stand among nations" was her statement. "Woman are gifted as home administrators, but houses and homes are different. Housekeeping must be done on a professional basis and we housewives must have fundamental business methods."

"There is no reason why Ohio can't have classes where women can study the science of buying. It is high time that we realized the importance of the buying woman."

"It is in this generation that the causes of war must be determined and outlawed and women need to awaken to their responsibility. It is time that the people should stop war causes and it is the woman's job."

"We were buffaloed in the past war. We thought we were going in for a great principle, but the war was really for economic reasons. We should clean house right at home!"

"The second greatest cause of the war was Fear. We must get rid of Fear. We women are living in a new world and we have tried to adjust old-fashioned remedies to a new world. We must see that the old order changeth."

She stressed the importance of the economic position and the importance of the buying woman. "After all, the big thing is the production of real things by us women. Women are responsible for social conditions. We are behind the times in choosing fathers for our children. We must raise our place in our own estimation. "Having a good home and well-ordered children is the greatest asset of the country. The power of the country lies with the women who have children in the public schools. Every mother has a part in the beautiful mosaic pattern of life and it is her duty to do the best by her responsibility," Mrs. Patterson said in closing.

As suggested by Mrs. Patterson, the convention passed a resolution to send a letter of condolence to the family of Mrs. Higgins, the late national President of the Parent-Teacher Associations.

A resolution that the state obtain funds for the care and education of handicapped children was passed by the body, a re-affirmation of the action taken by the organization at Middletown at the last district meeting.

A resolution upholding other organizations to have cigarette sale, use and manufacture in Ohio stopped was presented to the convention. After heated discussion the resolution was passed and will be forwarded to the state legislation. The last resolution was that suggested by C. A. Waltz, urging that financial relief be obtained for schools.

Thurman "Dusty" Miller, Wilmington newspaper man and humorist, was one of the most enjoyable features of the program. His sure-fire philosophy, interspersed with humor, was well received by the audience.

He told the convention that "success was the measure of service one renders to the world."

His other outstanding statements were: "Love and service will always stand in the world, when other principles fail. You have got to put more into the world than you take out. We all are bound to love the thing for which we fight for. You can't without giving."

Following the luncheon plan, the several hundred delegates were served dinner in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Pearl Wolf and Jacob Kany with the assistance of a large corps of school mothers and patrons cooked and served a delicious menu.

The evening session opened with the invocation by the Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Miss Harriet McCarty, school music supervisor, led the singing of "America" and several other numbers, with Miss Fannie K. Haynes at the piano.

Four boys and four girls, pupils of the first grade at Central High School, presented a charming musical, dressed in quaint costumes.

The fore part of the evening program was devoted to ten-minute addresses by several school officials on the work of the Parent-Teacher Association in their respective communities. The speakers included: H. W. Hodson, superintendent of schools, Clinton County on "What the P.T. A. Has Done in Clinton County"; H. E. Zuber, superintendent of schools, Osborn, Greene County, on "The P.T. A.'s Program in Centralized Schools"; J. W. Gowdy, superintendent of schools, Jamestown, on "P.T. A. Activities in the Village"; and D. H. Barnes, assistant superintendent of Greene County Schools, on "The P.T. A.'s Relation to the Board of Education." H. C. Aultman, superintendent of Greene County Schools, was unable to appear for his address on account of illness.

Dr. W. R. McClesney, president of Cedarville College, was the last speaker on the day's program and gave one of the most eloquent addresses of the entire program.

He declared that "next to the minister, the county owes the most to the teacher." He paid a stirring tribute to the memory of President William McKinley whose birthday was celebrated in America Thursday.

"The Principles of Life," President McClesney said, "are the home, government, work and the church."

"All the best women should belong to the Parent-Teacher Association," he said, "since the school is closest to the child, except the church and the home."

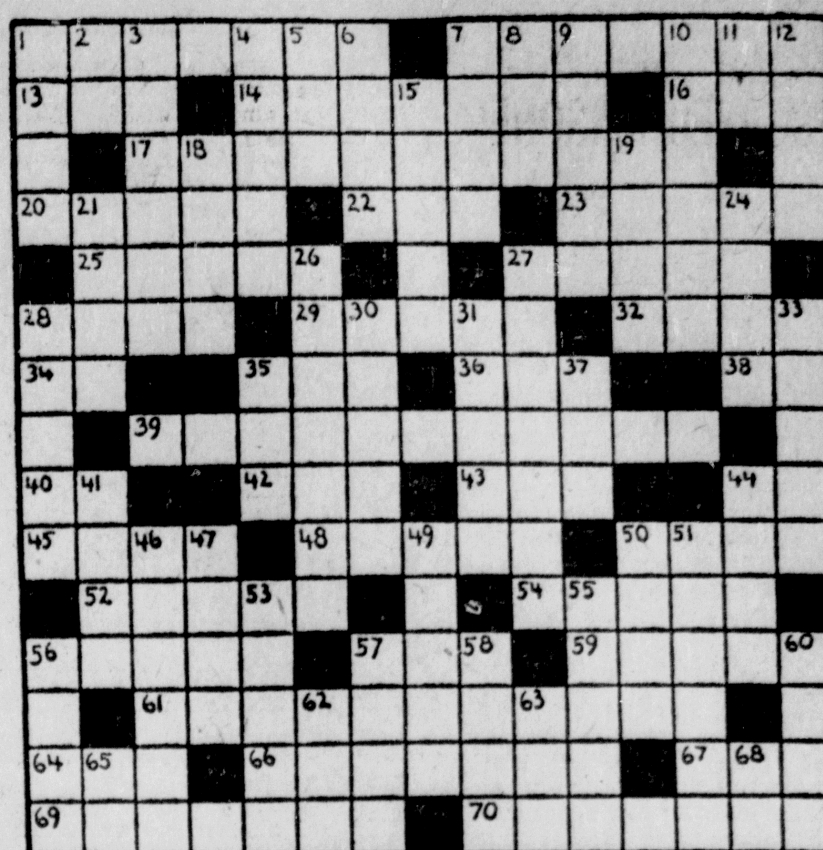

He pleaded for fairness to all creeds and cited the unselfish attitude of the teacher in giving all to each pupil. "When the moral and spiritual influences of the home fail, the responsibility falls on the school," he said.

"A pitched battle is on today between the forces of righteousness and truth and the weapons are spiritual ones. We seem to have two classes of people today—one who declares that everything is 'going to the dogs' and the other—that everything is getting better. I agree with the latter, despite the scare headlines of our newspapers," he said.

"We should be thankful for the scare headlines, since the conditions as they are today, need publicity!" He urged the Parent-Teacher Association to "carry on" the principles of the forefathers of America with a fair chance for all.

A display of articles, including drawing, hand-made rugs, animals, books, fancy work and tables, made by the pupils of the Opportunity School, in the auditorium, was a feature of the convention. The flag, made by pupils of the class of 1860, of Central High School was on display.

MODISH MITZI—Mitzi Says Styles Have New Wrinkles

By Jay V. Jay

It seems to be the aim of the new evening slippers to show as much foot and as little shoe as possible. That is why these sandals of Mitzi's are so fashionable. They are made of silver kid and of satin with a design of the leather applied on the satin.

Adelaide intended to buy some shoes for daytime wear but she has been led astray and enticed by a new pair of evening slippers, as who would it be when they are like these—of black satin, opera style, with a band of rhinestones around the top for trimming!

The straight spike heel is the new favorite and is seen on both daytime and evening shoes. Mitzi has just bought these patent leather oxfords, partly because of the heel and partly because they are bound with kidskin in a good-looking shade of brown.

XENIAN ATTENDS DISTRICT MEETING OF GOLF PLAYERS

W. Crawford Craig, this city of the Xenia Country Club, attended the meeting of the newly formed Dayton Golf Association Wednesday night at the Dayton City Club, Dayton, together with representatives from twenty-four other clubs in the vicinity of Dayton.

Ralph DeWeese, Dayton, was unanimously elected president, Stacey Mitchell, Wilmington, vice-president, W. O. Gross, Eaton treasurer and George Klockson, Dayton, secretary. Mr. Craig declared Thursday that the underlying purpose of the organization is to promote the golf game throughout this section, the fraternizing of golfers and reduction of the cost of upkeep of the clubs by cooperation.

Membership in the association will be limited to clubs within a fifty-mile radius of Dayton, although other clubs may be taken into the organization from time to time, upon unanimous approval.

C. A. Weaver, Xenia, member of the Xenia Country Club was among the alternates selected to date. Whether or not the Xenia Country Club will become a member of the association, will be decided at the annual meeting of stockholders in April when new directors and officers for 1925 will be elected.

MONEY FOR REMOVAL WILL BE PROVIDED

An item recommended by Secretary of War Weeks to pay the expenses attached to transferring air service activities at Wilbur Wright Field, Fairfield, to Middletown, Pa., is included in the second deficiency bill soon to be reported in Congress.

It is planned by the war department to remove the supply branch of the air service which combines the bulk of the activities at Wright Field. Training squadrons will not be transferred, it is said.

Removal of the Wright Field airport is in the interest of economy, it is said. It will also permit the transfer of McCook Field, at present located in Dayton, to the new site, abandoned by Wright Field.

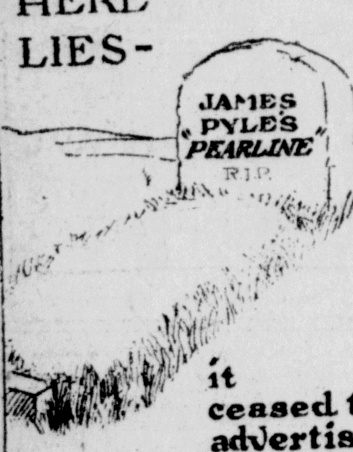

CHIEF STILL WANTS SIDE WALKS CLEAN

Those citizens who wish to avoid being cited to appear in Police Court, should heed the warning issued again by Police Chief M. E. Graham Thursday to get out the snow shovels. The recent snow-fall Thursday again put a thick coating on the walks, and residents are warned to clear the walks and paths immediately.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

HERE LIES—

it ceased to advertise

Failure to maintain advertising appropriations is one of the poorest pieces of finance an established business can indulge in.

A generation ago "St. Jacob's Oil" was one of the most widely advertised products in America. It was a patent medicine enjoying enormous sales. When Charles Vogeler, the head of this business, died, an "expert" went over the balance sheets and saw the enormous advertising appropriation.

This "expert" trimmed the advertising expenditure to little or nothing, reasoning that St. Jacob's Oil was so well known that it was unnecessary to spend money any longer to advertise it. Orders dwindled as advertising contracts ran out; business departed, never to return and it is safe to speculate that hardly one in fifty who reads this article remembers or ever heard of St. Jacob's Oil—one of the best known products on the continent 35 years ago.

A similar thing happened to James Pyle's "Pearline"—a company which used a $500,000 advertising fund as far back as 1904 and was one of the best known products in the entire world. The ad fund was "lopped off"; the business went dead. It tried unsuccessfully to make a come-back in 1914, and sold its plant for junk to a large soap manufacturer. Killing off the ad appropriation wrecked both of these prosperous businesses, and it would do the same thing to almost any great advertising concern today.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Husband Tamer by VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "The Luxury of Love" etc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

PATRICIA CLEVE has become estranged from her husband.

ANDREW CLEVE, who lives only for his business and expects her to give up everything to entertain his clients. She rebels and visits her sister, and he goes abroad. She is thrown with.

GREGORY HEWITT, a famous financier to whom her husband has introduced her, who falls in love with her, and whom she cannot ignore because of the help which he can give her sister's husband.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

XLVIII—PARTNERSHIP

"MR. GILLESPIE will have to get another lawyer," Andrew told her as they got in the elevator. Andrew was always absurdly conscious of the necessity of talking—and of not saying anything interesting—before the elevator man.

VIOLET DARE.

"I was afraid that you would refuse," she replied in an equally colorless voice, turning to smile at him mischievously behind the elevator man's back, quite as she had in the old days. "You shouldn't, you know. It will mean a lot of money."

He didn't answer her until their taxicab was headed toward his hotel. Then gruffly he drew her to him and in a husky voice begged her to come back to him. "I never realized until tonight how I'd used you. Of course, I cannot take Gillespie as a client, no matter how much money it means. You went out and landed him for me—and it was no more than you had done before. But this time I realized how dependent I had been on you, how degrading it was for you."

Patricia smiled a little to herself as she realized how innocent she had been of any plan to bring him to his senses. "I want you to come back," he went on, "And I'll try to give you everything you want. I've learned, my darling, that I can run my business without you. I haven't been badly, you know, since you've been away. But I can't live without you. Pat, I need you. There isn't any joy in life without you."

Pat slipped her arm around his neck and a little sob shook her shoulders. "And I thought tonight was the end of everything," she whispered, burying her head deeper on his shoulder. "You were so polite to me."

Her little drawing room at the hotel looked cold and cheerless as they came in, though the big bowls of flowers and delicate French furnishings had seemed charming to her only a few hours before.

"We'll have a great big open fireplace with big chairs that you can sink down in," Patricia started in enthusiastically, as he asked her if she wouldn't go house hunting with him the very next day.

"And we'll spend all our evenings in them," he assured her laughingly as he held her closer in his arms. "Unless you get a hankering once in a while to go to see the Folies or take a look at the cabarets you used to be so weary of."

"I'd like to go a few times just with you and perhaps Linda Boyce and her husband. And I'd like to be awfully rude to all of you just to make up for the times when I've had to be polite to people who meant nothing in my life. But, Andrew, can we do it? Buying the house and all is going to be awfully expensive. Can you afford to let down all at once? I could stand fishing business for you if it meant cabarets every night and entertaining a dozen women like Mrs. Hewitt at our house, if I was only sure that we could get away from it sometime in the future."

"You darling!" Andrew exclaimed. "It won't be necessary though," he explained a few minutes later. "I won't be fishing for clients, at least for awhile. I made connections over in London that will keep me occupied for a long time. But I'm not even going to tell you about the future."

Finis!

Patricia smiled a little to herself as she realized how innocent she had been of any plan to bring him to his senses. "I want you to come back," he went on, "And I'll try to give you everything you want. I've learned, my darling, that I can run my business without you. I haven't been badly, you know, since you've been away. But I can't live without you. Pat, I need you. There isn't any joy in life without you."

MEANS AND FELDER GUILTY; SENTENCED

DETECTIVE TO SERVE 2 YEARS AT ATLANTA, GA.

Fined $10,000 Also—His Lawyer Escapes With
$10,000 Fine Only

New York, Jan. 30.—Gaston B. Means, detective, and Thomas B. Felder, his lawyer, were found guilty of conspiracy to bribe government officials in a sealed verdict returned today in United States district court. The jury recommended extreme clemency for Felder.

Judge Lindley sentenced Means to serve two years in the Atlanta, Ga., penitentiary and to pay a fine of $10,000. It was the maximum penalty. Felder was fined $10,000 but given no prison sentence.

The jury's verdict was reached at 8:50 p. m. yesterday but sealed and kept until court opened this forenoon. The jury had been out five hours and 45 minutes.

Means received the verdict with his familiar damped smile. Felder turned pale, licked his dry lips and gulped, while he sat immovably in his chair.

Means seemed to take the jury's finding as a joke. He had bet a reporter five cents at even money, that he would be convicted.

"Well," he said, with a grin, "I guess I run five cents."

The government, in bringing the conspiracy charge, complained that Felder, Means and the latter's confidential man, Elmer Jarnecke, who pleaded guilty and testified against them, conspired to bribe former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, one of Felder's law partners, U. S. District Attorney Clark, his assistant, John Holloy Clark, and William J. Burns, head of the bureau of investigation, of the department of justice under Daugherty.

The defendants, it was charged, obtained $65,000 from certain defendants in the mail fraud cases growing out of the Cramer Company's sale of stock in the Glass Casket Company.

Means, Felder and Jarnecke, the government alleged, told these defendants that they could obtain dismissal of the indictment against them. Felder and Means' defense was that Jarnecke, Isaac Padoff, of Chicago, and the latter's financial backer, Samuel Schmidt, conspired to swindle the casket defendants, using Means' name for that purpose without the detective's knowledge.

SENTENCED TO BE HANGED ON FRIDAY, 13TH

Willie Jones, at the left, and Gervais Bloodworth, two Butler, Ga., youths, are shown facing Judge W. J. H. Search, in a court room at Griffin, Ga., where he sentenced them to be hanged on Friday, February 13th. The boys—they are mere children—were convicted of murdering and robbing Howard P. Underwood, prosperous neighbor in Butler, on December 3, 1923. Desperate efforts had been made to save their lives. Once, when their execution was postponed by an injunction, the unique claim was set up that, as they were not hanged on the date set for their execution, they were legally dead, and could not therefore be hanged.

On The Trail To Tanana, Alaska, Jan. 30.—Shortly after one o'clock this morning, Dan Green, third relay man in the dash with diphtheria serum to Nome, was 42 miles below Tanana. He passed Tanana at 12:30 o'clock, after driving all through the night. The weather was 45 degrees below zero.

Anchorage, Alaska, Jan. 30.—With strained muscles and harness in an effort to bring life-giving anti-toxin to diphtheria stricken Nome, the strongest, fleetest dogs in Alaska sped relief today in their "death race" northward.

Over snow and ice covered trails in the bitter cold of the Arctic, raced Dan Green, the third champion dog racer of the north relaying serum to the disease-ravaged city.

Green left Hot Springs late yesterday afternoon and at night was reported not far from Tanana.

In the light sled which Green's dogs are pulling rested a 20 pound package of 1,000,000 anti-toxin units, which will save hundreds of lives in Nome, providing the race against disease is won.

The package was heavily wrapped in blankets to prevent freezing and breaking the containers.

"RED" GRANGE, STAR FOOTBALL ACE, WILL DO STUFF IN MOVIES

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 30.—"Red" Grange, star football player of the University of Illinois, is "going into the movies." His contract calls for four weeks' work at $2,000 a week. University officials will grant him a leave of absence. This much became known today from sources close to "big ten" officials.

The prestige Grange has brought to Illinois by his stellar gridiron performance is said to have influenced the concessions from University officials.

He is well advanced with his studies and his "leave of absence" will not affect his scholastic standing, it was said.

The date of Grange's departure for the studio has not been announced.

BLAME GAMBLE FOR BREAD PRICE RAISE

London, Jan. 30.—Wheat continued to hold London's interest today, particularly since the announcement that the price of bread would be advanced two cents a loaf, effective Monday.

The newspaper did not say today why, but said that Russian purchases all over the world, were driving up the price of wheat.

PARENT TEACHER DELEGATES HEAR STIRRING TALKS AT LAST SESSIONS OF CONVENTION HERE; 500 ATTEND

Dr. W. R. McChesney and Paul C. Stetson Among Principal Speakers—Resolution Opposes Cigarette Sale—Next Meeting Goes to Greenfield

BY ALICE FOLEY
The largest Parent-Teacher Association Congress ever held in Ohio closed Thursday evening after three sessions at the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium, Central High School, with plans to meet in Greenfield, O., next year.

At the opening of the afternoon session 509 delegates from southwestern Ohio had registered for the congress. The number did not include members of the Xenia Federated Parent-Teacher Association and city and county school officials who were in attendance during the day.

The largest groups of delegates were from Montgomery County and Cincinnati, more than 200 women coming from the former county and 109 from Cincinnati alone.

The state organization of the Parent-Teacher Association was represented by several officers including Mrs. J. G. Ruff, Cincinnati, state president; Mrs. F. J. Unkenholt, Cincinnati, state treasurer; Mrs. Ada M. Zuehlke, Cincinnati, second district treasurer; Mrs. Neal Phelps Waddell, Greenfield, O., state corresponding secretary; Mrs. Hamilton Schaeffer, Dayton, second state vice-president and chairman of P. T. A. work in Montgomery County and Miss Ann Littell, Dayton, state chairman of kindergarten work in the P. T. A.

The afternoon session opened with the continuance of reports from the various organizations represented, given with an idea of presenting new plans of work from over the state, to be adopted by other associations. Mrs. A. J. Barnett, Dayton, district chairman, presided over the afternoon session.

Clever stunts were employed by several organizations in attracting the attention of the congress to their city and district for the next convention. A spokesman for the Greenfield organization urged the convention for that city "as a piece of missionary work" since Greenfield is in the center of a weak P. T. A. district. Other invitations were withdrawn in favor of Greenfield and the vote was to hold the next convention there. The State P. T. A. convention will be held in Cincinnati, October 7, 8 and 9 at the Hotel Gibson.

The afternoon invocation was pronounced by the Rev. F. W. Stanton, of the First M. E. Church.

C. A. Waltz, superintendent of the Xenia City Schools, gave the address of welcome. He praised the work of the Xenia women in preparing for the convention, in opening his address.

"The parents can't shirk their responsibility to the children," he declared. "We have reached a crisis in American social life because of the lack of home influence and proper training."

"This crisis is plainly evident, I regret to say, in school management and what we need is the old-fashioned home influences that teach all virtues."

"The school can't cope with the situation alone. We need the co-operation of the parents and school patrons."

He emphasized the willingness of the schools to co-operate with all allied organizations. "We will fall short if the parents fail to do their duty," Mr. Waltz said.

He urged a resolution to be adopted by the convention, to be forwarded to the State Legislature, to seek financial relief for schools, and declared many buildings would close their doors unless some aid was found soon.

"There is a bill pending giving relief to the county schools, which surely need it," he said, "but the city schools also are at a critical period."

"If the principles of Christianity are not taught pupils, their lives will be ruined," he told the parents and teachers. "There is a plastic age when habits are formed and we need righteousness in our education on all sides. Teachers come and teachers go, as do playmates and companions but only one influence stays—that of the home!" was one of the statements of the speaker.

"This influence will mold the child for years to come and will combat the real dangers that are confronting the boys and girls and we can't stoop to small differences to settle our troubles—we need co-operation!"

Mrs. J. H. Benbow, president of the Xenia Federated Parent-Teacher Association, gave a short talk of welcome to the visitors, on behalf of that organization. She declared the P. T. A. to be the biggest thing in Xenia.

DAMAGED SUBMARINE TORN FROM ROCK BY GALE: SAVE PART OF CREW

SCANDAL PROBE TO DIE UNLESS WITNESS TALKS

Refusal of O'Connell to Testify Will Mean End Of Effort.

New York, Jan. 30.—If, as the young man himself has been at some pains to imply, Jimmy O'Connell will not appear in New York for the official investigation of the baseball scandal, the local district attorney's probe will die a painful death of malnutrition.

There can be little doubt without O'Connell, the only man mentioned in the expose from whom a confession was obtained. Local officials made no attempt to conceal this state of affairs today, as they prepared to make the best of Jimmy's sudden refusal to do business with them.

Barring extradition proceedings the district attorney's office has no alternative beyond proceeding with the hearing of minor witnesses from whom there is no hope of getting to the bottom of the affair.

Without actually saying as much, local officials have intimated they will not attempt to extradite O'Connell. He would have to be indicted by the grand jury in the first place and in the second, they have no assurance that an attempt at extradition would be successful.

They believe that the governor of California would not consent to O'Connell's extradition.

In coming here to testify, O'Connell would lay himself open to possible indictment, if convicted in the eyes of the law. He has asked for immunity. The district attorney will not grant it. Therefore O'Connell will stay where he is.

Whether the fact that Cozy Dolan, barred from baseball with O'Connell, said fit to waive immunity in testifying yesterday, will have an effect on Jimmy's present attitude, local officials would not say.

They pointed out, however, that Dolan has little to worry about as long as O'Connell, his sole accuser, remains in California.

In fact, they made no attempt to evade the fact that neither Dolan nor any of the men accused could be convicted even with O'Connell present. According to the New York statute, no man can be convicted on the unsupported testimony of a self-confessed conspirator.

It was therefore their original plan to attempt to force a confession from other witnesses, provided they had anything to confess and thus to reach an open clearing through the undergrowth by placing such a confession side by side with O'Connell's and letting the law do its worst.

MARRIAGE OF JACK DEMPSEY WILL END GREAT RING CAREER

Los Angeles, Jan. 30.—The greatest alliance ever known to the sport world, that of Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns will come to an end on May 20 of this year, when Dempsey, perhaps the greatest boxing champion ever known, leads Estelle Taylor, film star, to the altar and takes her for his bride.

Such was the exclusive statement today from Dempsey, as he made known his plans for the future.

"I will never fight again," the champion declared. "That is one of the arrangements, Miss Taylor and I have agreed upon. My ring career is ended. And with it ends my contract with Jack Kearns, who has been my manager for more than eight years."

LEGISLATORS SCAN BOOKS FOR OBSOLETE PROHIBITION LAWS

Old Restrictions on Sale Of Liquor Will Be Repealed.

Columbus, O., Jan. 30.—Legislators were scanning the thick volumes of the general code today in search of eighty-one sections dealing with the restrictions on the sale of liquor made obsolete by the coming of prohibition and to be repealed under a bill offered by Senator Garver, Holmes County, scheduled for reference to senate committee next Monday night, following second reading.

The old prohibitions included everything from barring the sale of liquor during a riot to the provision that nothing but cheese, crackers and pretzels could be served as a free lunch.

Other senate measures scheduled for reference and second reading Monday night, include a general resolution by Senator Farnsworth, Lucas, proposing an amendment to the state constitution prohibiting issue of bonds for short term improvements and limiting the life of bonds to the probable life of the improvement for which they are issued.

A group of bills was scheduled for reference after second reading today in the house. They include:

By Representative Krueger, Cuyahoga, providing for voting at general elections on proposed bond issues levying taxes above the fifteen mill limitation, for school and other public buildings and requiring that the ballot designate the amount of tax rate increase which would be caused by the issue if carried by Schmuellinger, Hamilton, emergency bill authorizing county commissioners to lease, operate and maintain any general hospital owned by a municipality within the county, this covering the lease to Hamilton county of the general hospital, Cincinnati, by Penny, Montgomery, providing for special classes for teaching mentally deficient, or retarded children, and authorizing the state to appropriate $40 annually for each such pupil; by Lipp, Hamilton, appropriating $20,000 for erection of a memorial to the late president William Henry Harrison at North Bend; by Davidson, Summit, requiring stock, health and accident insurance companies to possess $100,000 capital subscribed and $25,000 paid in stock before being permitted to operate in Ohio.

The senate will convene again at 7:30 o'clock next Monday night, having adjourned Thursday afternoon over the week end.

HEAVIEST SNOW IN QUARTER CENTURY HITS NEW YORK STATE; METROPOLIS HAS SLUSH

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Eighteen hours of continuous snowfall yesterday and today buried Syracuse under its heaviest blanket in twenty-five years. Thousands walked to work through the three foot drifts this morning.

Train, trolley and taxicab service was suspended.

More than sixty trolleys were stalled. Early estimates placed the number of abandoned automobiles at 1500. Three hundred and fifty persons narrowly escaped death when the roof of the Elmwood theatre caved in two minutes after the close of the last performance.

Blanketed under a foot of snow, and with a wind blowing at times 50 and 60 miles an hour, all traffic in Albany including trolley, rail and automobile was completely demoralized. Streets were blocked by huge drifts in some places eight and 10 feet deep.

Two feet of snow fell last night and today in Olean, N. Y. A wind this morning has piled the snow into six foot drifts in many places there. Heavy falls of snow in the Rochester-Syracuse sections caused delay in arrival of westbound trains in Buffalo this morning. Central and Lacawanna trains were delayed from one to three hours. Erie trains came in on time. About four inches of snow fell here last night.

The defeat of the Child Labor Law heightened the good spirit prevailing at the all-day meeting of Pomona Grange at Yellow Springs Grange Hall, Wednesday. Farm organizations took an active stand against the proposed legislation against child labor and its defeat spelled success for their efforts.

Two candidates were initiated into the fifth degree of the grange work during the morning session. The afternoon session opened with music by the Xenia Grange orchestra, piano solos by Miss Ella Fogg, Yellow Springs and readings by Joseph Smith, Caesarcreek.

Mrs. Walter St. John, Jamestown, gave an interesting account of a hunting trip in Canada last fall and closed her talk by reciting three original poems.

The session was marked with heated discussion of the gasoline tax on all motor vehicles and the remarks closed with a unanimous vote in favor of the proposed tax. Edward Meredith of Yellow Springs, submitted a resolution that the Grange send a congratulatory message to the Legislature for its stand on the child labor question.

A "booster committee" was appointed to assist in furthering Grange work in Greene County, composed of: John Munger, Beaver Grange; W. J. Engle, Charity Grange; Joseph P. Hutchison, Xenia Grange; Mrs. Edna Kuriger, Fairfield Valley Grange; Joseph Smith, Caesarcreek Grange; Edward Meredith, Yellow Springs Grange; J. F. Gordon, Jamestown Grange and P. W. Van Pelt, Spring Valley Grange. The committee represents each Grange in the County.

Sentiment of the farmers expressed

at the meeting, that the truck law, concerning the weight on trucks, on highways, was not impartial, resulted in a committee composed of C. W. Mott, Jamestown; Walter St. John, Jamestown and S. H. Shawhan, Caesarcreek, being appointed to seek fairer legislation.

C. W. Mott, Jamestown, Joseph Smith, Caesarcreek and Kenneth Fogg, Miami Grange, were appointed members of a committee to have charge of the Grange exhibits at the Greene County Fair next fall.

The next Pomona meeting will be held the last Wednesday in March with the new Spring Valley Grange.

Real reasons why legislators are voting against the proposed Child Labor Amendment will be stated by the Rev. James P. Lytle, in a special sermon at the First U. P. Church, Sunday night.

The true reasons why the amendment should be ratified will be presented together with accurate facts and figures. The Rev. Mr. Lytle says that he is amazed at the action of the Ohio lower house the past week and the public utterances of popular lecturers in opposition to this measure. He feels that the "wolf cries" to parents, farmers, taxpayers and others are not only false but "propaganda conducted largely by the enemies of Christian America."

FIREMEN HAVE CALL

A defective flue in the chimney at the home of Edward Meahl, 18 West Second Street, gave the fire department a run at 8:15 o'clock Friday morning. Although the chimney was smoking, no fire was discovered and no chemical was needed.

Your Income Tax

Traveling expenses form an important item in the returns of many taxpayers. The revenue act of 1924 provides that traveling expenses, including railroad fares and the entire amount expended for meals and lodging when away from home solely on a business trip may be deducted by a taxpayer from gross income in determining net income upon which the tax is to be assessed. On a journey for other than business purposes, railroad fares are personal expenses and the cost of meals and lodgings are living expenses. Therefore, they can not be deducted.

If a salesman is not reimbursed by his employer for his traveling expenses, or if employed on a commission basis with no expense allowance, his entire traveling expenses may be deducted from gross income. If he receives a salary and is also repaid for traveling expenses, he should include in his return of gross income the amount of repayment and may deduct such expenses.

A salesman receiving a salary and an allowance for meals and lodging should include the allowance in gross income, from which may be deducted the cost of meals and lodging.

Only such traveling expenses as are "reasonable and necessary in the conduct of the business and directly attributable to it" may be deducted. Examples are payment for the use of a sample room, or the cost of a taxi for a customer. A taxpayer claiming a deduction for traveling expenses must attach to his return a statement showing the nature of the business in which engaged; number of days away from home during the taxable year on account of business; total amount of expenses incident to meals and lodging while absent from home on business; total amount of other expenses incident to travel and claimed as a deduction. Among the "other expenses" are tips, which are held to be a part of traveling expenses, provided they are reasonable in amount. Claims for traveling expenses must be substantiated when required by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue by records showing in detail the amount and nature of the expenses incurred.

Suburbanites who commute daily from their homes to their places of business are not permitted to deduct the cost of transportation, it being a personal expense.

GREENE COUNTIAN CITED FOR FAILURE TO FILE EXPENSES

Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, Yellow Springs, representing the No-Tobacco League of Ohio, is among the 167 lobbyists who have failed to appear before the last legislature and file expense accounts within the time limit, which expires Saturday at midnight.

A joint resolution calling upon the secretary of state to certify to the attorney general for prosecution the names of the lobbyists who failed to file, was adopted by the senate Thursday.

Senator J. Lowry Miller, Middletown, amended the resolution presented by Senator George H. Bender, Cleveland, to provide this. Bender's resolution merely provided that the senate be given names of lobbyists registered for this session.

Individuals or concerns found guilty of not filing accounts as provided by law are subject to a fine of from $200 to $5,000 and imprisonment of from one to two years. Secretary of State Brown and Attorney General Crabbe said they would take prompt action.

Records show that of the 167 lobbyists registered for the last legislative session, only twenty-eight so far have filed accounts. Mrs. Flatter is among the long list who must file accounts by Saturday or be held accountable.

First—Stop Pain Don't suffer for an hour

When pain comes, stop it. Be ever ready to stop it quickly, night or day. Don't suffer any pain which a moment of rubbing can stop.

These include pains allied to rheumatism, to soreness, to lameness, to chest colds. They can be stopped at once. For 65 years they have been stopped by rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

As for curing the cause of the trouble, Nature usually does that. But don't suffer while you wait. St. Jacobs Oil causes counter irritation. Then it draws the blood to the surface to relieve congestion. In a minute or two you feel that the pain has ebbed. You rejoice in relief. Perhaps there are other ways. But this is the one way that millions have used—have proved it for 65 years. You can rely on it. Your druggist guarantees it. Why take chances when you know that nothing can be better?

Don't wait for an emergency. It may mean a night of pain. Have St. Jacobs Oil ever ready. Apply it as soon as you feel a pain, or a chest cold. Be ready to soothe it, to check it at once. There will never be a better way. Go get it now to be prepared when pain comes. It may save you and yours many unhappy hours. SACRIFICE

Across the wind-swept wastes of Alaska, ardy men are musing dog teams to Nome, bearing the life-giving serum needed there to check the ravages of a diphtheria epidemic.

The situation has all of the elements of a Jack London novel, with strong men dropping into the spirit of sacrifice, and heroically facing terrible conditions, impelled by a spirit of humanity.

It proves too, that truth is stranger than fiction, for in this trans-country race with death, are facts which no novelist would dare touch. It has the deep elements of humanity, sympathy, unselfishness, responding to the call of distress that makes the world kin.

Here are men with rough exteriors, baring their souls to show that the milk of human kindness runs strong beneath many an unimposing appearance. It is romance, adventure and action and not a current novelist with the power to express it in its deeper terms.

WHEAT

To reverse an old adage, it is a good wind that blows no one ill.

The increase in the price of wheat, is a boon to farmers, heralding that prosperity that has been promised them ever since the bottom dropped out of things after the World War.

A top price for wheat will thus blow good to the producer, even while it wafts gentle misfortune in the path of the consumer. Bakers, because of this wheat raise, are preparing to increase the price of bread.

All of which goes to prove that somebody has to pay for everything.

IF THE BRITISH FIND A REMEDY, PLEASE NOTIFY AND OBLIGE

The British are a conservative people and their history shows they will stand for a good deal of tyranny before rising in revolution. Still, they have limits to their patience, as the fate of certain high handed persons testifies, and there are rumblings just now that indicate those limits are being encroached upon by that modern tyrant known as the after-dinner speaker.

We gather from the English newspapers that his case is receiving a good deal of attention, from which it is assumed he has been keeping British subjects up pretty late at night. So conservative a paper as the London Times has been moved to make the revolutionary proposal that after-dinner speakers should be transformed into before-dinner speakers, holding that if speakers are required to perform before the eating begins they couldn't possibly keep diners from their soup more than a few minutes. No speaker could be heard probably after the soup came on.

This is a subject in which Americans are interested also. They probably suffer from this form of tyranny as much as the British. There is no crueler sight than that of a company of diners trying to invite the comfortable processes of digestion while being addressed by a speaker who has nothing to say and wants to take all the time until midnight to say it. There has been almost no reform of the evil in this country in recent generations. Mark Twain tells of being on a speaking list at a dinner to General Grant where he didn't get on his feet until 2 o'clock in the morning. It was experiences like that, probably, that account for the fact that Grant never smiled. The evil may not be quite so bad now, but it is not much better. The number of persons willing to get on their feet after dinner, on the slightest urge, is still very large and the number who know when to sit down is still very small.

If the British work out any remedy for this tyranny that a law abiding country like America can embrace, it will be ready to sign a declaration of independence with the old country and make it an entente. Of course, we should prefer there should be no violence. We like to be legal. Still, when in the course of human events— Kansas City Star.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

THE UNUSUAL MAN

He never said a hasty word,
He never did a thing absurd,
He never wrote a letter stout
And wished he hadn't sent it out,
He never rushed to grab a seat
To see a lady on her feet;
He made mistakes, but they were not
The common blunders of the lot.

He never tossed a lighted match
On stuff which readily would catch
He never had an accident
Which careful driving would prevent;
He never, like the most of us,
Became embroiled in row or fuss,
And for some trifling place to get
Suffered long periods of regret.

He saved himself much grief and woe
Which ordinary mortals know,
He never did a deed unwise
For which he later apologized,
He never blindly rushed ahead
Where angels would have feared to tread,
Or heath enthusiasm's sway
Promised beyond his power to pay.

Strange man! Yes, strange, and it is true
Of him the world has very few;

I say it now behind his back,
He had one gift which many lack.
Time to consider well he took,
Before he leaped he stopped to look;
By folly he was seldom cursed,
Because he did his thinking first.

TRY THIS ON YOUR COOP

Columbus, Jan. 29.—Ohio hens now have their work laid out for them. Their production is to be graded according to quality, as a result of a conference held at Chicago recently by representatives of poultry raisers. The project will be pushed at a meeting of members of the Ohio Butter, Egg and Poultry Association at Cleveland on March 9, next, it was announced here. Prompt collection and marketing are to be urged upon owners of henneries and eggs are to be graded according to freshness, size, cleanliness and freedom from checks and cracks. W. F. Every family loves "pancakes."

Some housewives make them one way, some another. I am going to give various recipes for this delicious dish:

Wholewheat Pancakes: Beat one egg light and add to it two cups of sweet, cold milk. Mix together three cups of wholewheat flour, one cup of ordinary white bread flour, a pinch of salt and three teaspoons of baking powder. Combine the dry and the liquid mixtures, beat well, then drop by tablespoonfuls into a hot greased pan turning when "dimples"

appear on top and when pancake is brown underneath.

Old-Fashioned Flannel Cakes: Mix

and sift together one pint of flour,

two teaspoons of baking powder, one half teaspoon of sugar and a pinch of salt. Also mix together the beaten yolk of one egg and three-fourths of a pint of sweet, cold milk. Combine the dry and wet mixtures, then beat well and add one-half tablespoon of melted butter. Last fold in one stifflybeaten white of an egg. Drop onto a hot griddle or in a pan.

Hominy Griddlecakes: Sift two cups of ordinary white bread flour and rub into it, with the finger-tips, two tablespoons of butter or lard. Stir into this two cups of thick, sour milk. Let this mixture stand several hours

(over night is even better) then add to it one cup of either hot or cold cooked hominy. Also add, with the hominy, one heaping teaspoon of soda

Beat well before frying as above described. (Note: Any kind of cooked cereal may be used in place of the hominy.)

Canned Corn Pancakes: Turn a quart-sized can of corn out into a bowl and mash well with a potato-masher. Then add to it one cup of flour, one-half cup of cold milk, one beaten egg, a pinch each of salt and pepper, and one tablespoon of sugar.

Drop this batter onto a hot, greased griddle or into a pan as directed above.

KEEP STUDYING

People who keep thinking are usually happy. It is when a man becomes a drifter and a floater down the stream that he becomes dissatisfied and discouraged.

Every human being should keep studying all the time.

Not only should you study along some line in which you are interested but you should take up some line or subject about which you know nothing. It is surprising how little any of us know. To tap a new vein of knowledge is like being refreshed with a cup of cold water on a hot day. The entire mind reacts to the new discoveries of ideas and bits of knowledge.

Keep studying about the things you are most interested in and then keep adding new interests outside your present work or occupation.

Every time a new set of muscles is developed in your body, every other part of the body is benefited. In like manner every time you add to what you already know, all other knowledge becomes enriched.

To keep studying, your friends is to improve your friendships. To keep studying art is to increase your appreciation for all beautiful things. To keep studying books is to come closer to all mankind.

One of the greatest secrets of success is to learn the fact that only as you do your work and fill your niche better than anyone has ever done it before, do you really grow into a commanding place of power.

It's that "Keep Studying" that smooths the way and lights up the path for progress.

In this connection it is well to do something each day that you would rather not do at all. For to all of us there always come times when we have too many things that we didn't expect but are compelled to do.

Keep studying. It helps us to meet all the affairs of life gracefully.

BE PATIENT WITH MAIL CARRIERS FOR TIME SAYS FRAZER

Xenians are asked to ignore any small delays in delivery of their mail for several days due to the fact that city carriers are as yet unaccustomed to the new schedule which went into effect Tuesday. City carriers now are forced to acquaint themselves with eight regular routes instead of the former number, seven, and some difficulty primarily due to the severe weather

There is nothing so harmful to success as being a grouch. Stomach, liver and intestinal troubles make one grouchy. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy will help overcome these and usually gives complete results.

Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. With Amazing Speed It Stops That Tough Hang On Cough That Racks Your Whole Body

For simple coughs any simple sweet sugary cough syrup will probably do. But when you want to throw out of your system one of those old timers, that simply won't be conquered, but lingers on and on causing sleepless nights and days of torment then you've just got to have a real cough medicine.

Then you must ask your druggist for a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion for the harder and tougher and tighter they come the more joy Broncholine gets in knocking them out.

Broncholine isn't a cheap cough conqueror mixed you, for first raters are never cheap. But if you are one of the unlucky ones that a persistent, health destroying, cough is pushing towards the grave, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes right hold and soothes the terrible soreness.

Often three or four doses brings blessed relief and half a bottle forces the most stubborn cough into submission.

"A bottle of magic" one old man calls Broncholine Emulsion. He was all worn out and ready to give up when a friend brought him the good news about Broncholine.

Don't let a cough hang on—it's dangerous company—Get rid of it quick. Ask Sayre & Hemphill or any up to the times druggist for a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion. It's a good medicine to have around the house because it contains no chloroform or dope and often two or three doses will stop any ordinary cough. adv

This Sincere Letter For Surgeons, Physicians, Dentists

We are calling the attention of the good people of Xenia and vicinity to the most powerful, non-poisonous, non-alcoholic, non-irritating Antiseptic known Kojene.

In this newspaper we will tell the people, and especially the ailing people to whom it will prove a blessing, just exactly what physical ills it will help, and in spite of our enthusiasm for this wonderful antiseptic will stick to the truth in every statement we make.

We will not exaggerate—although some of the things we write may seem exaggerated.

Nothing equals Kojene for irrigation of the antrum; for Pyorrhea and Gingivitis; for Stomatitis, Trench Mouth, pus pockets and all cases of infection.

Kojene so we will tell more people who need it, is four times as powerful as an antiseptic than Carbolic Acid. It is much more powerful than poisonous bichloride of mercury, and will not burn or even irritate the tenderest membrane.

We will tell the readers of this paper of its wonderful and quickly effective action in Tonsillitis and sore throat; of how completely it drives out the offensive mucus of catarrh and thoroughly cleans the entire nasal tract.

We will tell them of its remarkable success in the treatment of cankers in the mouth and how quickly it succeeds when used for Eczema, itching skin, ulcers, boils and skin eruptions.

And last but by no means least, we will tell them that as a germ destroying mouth wash it is as far ahead of the highly flavored and bubbling kind as daylight is to candlelight.

It is seventy-five times as powerful as the weak kinds whose popularity seems to lie in their weakness and the ignorance of those who use them.

A sixty cent bottle (6 dimes) of Kojene, will make one-half gallon of a stronger, better and more efficient mouth wash than the high priced doubtful ones you buy ready made.

Medical men like to join in an effort to drive menacing poisons from the home and give their support to any great and worthy preparation that destroys pernicious germs and helps humanity—that is just what Kojene does.

In six ounce bottles at Sayre & Hemphill's and every progressive druggist in America. 60c with the understanding that money will be returned if any purchaser is dissatisfied. adv

LEADS CAPTURE OF ESCAPED PRISONER

A wild chase, started by automobile and concluded on foot, brought Nooks, colored, escaped prisoner, back into the clutches of the law yesterday morning.

Nooks was recaptured by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn and George Pencer, and Patrolmen Charles Sims and Fred Jones. He faces incarceration in the County Jail to work at a fine of $1,000 and costs for bootlegging some time ago, which he escaped serving.

The officers were on their way to Nook's home near Wilberforce Thursday morning, when Nooks passed them in an automobile driving toward Xenia. The officers turned and followed after Nooks refused to stop, firing several shots at the tires of his machine as the two machines raced into Xenia west on Church Street to Mechanic where Nook's machine was wrecked in the yard of a residence when he attempted to turn into Mechanic Street at high speed.

Leaping from the machine, Nooks, through Mechanic to Market, and while officers, whose machine narrowly averted overturning at corner, followed on foot, Patrolman Simms commandeered another machine to keep up the chase, and caught Nooks hiding behind shrubbery in the yard of the R. A. Kelly Company offices on West Market Street.

It was from Deputy Sheriff George Spencer, who helped in the arrest, that Nooks escaped a year ago. He got away while being taken from the County Jail to a doctor's office and police decorated the station house with a framed picture of Nooks running away and Spencer chasing him. The officer has now earned the right, since Nooks' re-capture, to take the picture down.

Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin made an unsuccessful attempt to capture Nooks at his home near Wilberforce Wednesday night, but he evaded the officer.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

For Catarrhal Conditions

Inflammation of the throat and chest. BRAZILIAN BALM is excellent. Dissolves the phlegm, taking away the cause for irritating cough. Used since 1878.

The blanket of snow will prove a life sayer for the wheat. Thus far it has been a severe winter on wheat. A two dollar price makes money for some of the speculators but means little to the dirt farmer with an empty wheat bin and a deteriorating crop in the field.

At the Spring Valley Institute, McPherson School stood third in the spelling contest with Harper Billmyre as the speller.

Sale prices are looking up with approach of spring. Horses are coming back to a more reasonable price and cows are bringing good money.

Mr. Weakley of near Mt. Holly has rented seven hundred acres of the former Tolbert farm on the river. The farm is now owned by the Shuey heirs of Springfield.

STAGES SET FOR 5,000 GUESTS FOR FARMERS' MEETING

The stage is now completely set for Ohio's thirteenth annual Farmers' Week, which begins next Monday and continues through Friday, February 6, at the Ohio State University. Revised and detailed programs, those at the college announce, have just rolled off the press in anticipation of the arrival of 5,000 or more visitors.

By hours, subjects, and speakers the program lists the lectures, demonstrations, and round-table discussions scheduled for each of the five days from 9 o'clock in the morning to supper-time. By that time, the program suggests, the university's guests will be ready for the banquets of the score of state associations meeting at Columbus next week, and for the entertainment of games, old-fashioned

Beware Of Coughs That Hangs On

Pneumonia and serious lung trouble usually start with a cough. So if you have a cold or cough—stop it at once with a few doses of that fine old medicine, Kemp's Balsam. This famous Balsam soothes the nerves of the throat, stops the tickling cough and nature does the rest. No form of cough syrup so good for children's coughs. 30 cents at all stores.

For that Cough KEMP'S BALSAM

OUT GOES ROUGE NATURAL BLOOMS GLOW IN CHEEKS

While the truth that 40% of our school children were half-starved caused fear to clutch at mothers' hearts, it proved a blessing to children and mothers alike. Physicians and teachers recommended cod liver oil. Mothers saw difficulties ahead. Then, at this critical juncture, came CocoCod—pure Norwegian cod liver oil in a new easy-to-take form. Strength-building vitamins are a part of this preparation which has the taste of rich cocoa. Children who rebel at cod liver oil take it gladly and thrive on it.

Noting its wonderful effects on the kiddies, mothers have discarded rouge and are cultivating the natural bloom of roses in cheeks formerly pallid. Fathers, prematurely aged through overwork and under-feeding, lacking in rich blood and nerve energy, are finding new zest in life through CocoCod.

Starting in the midst of plenty! That is what medical men say is the trouble with us today. Our food is deficient in vitamin elements and modern cooking renders it weaker. CocoCod simply feeds the starving system back to health. It contains no drugs, no alcohol, dope or chemical substance; only pure Norwegian cod liver oil, food extracts, and the taste of rich cocoa. Physicians and teachers who are informed regarding it, as well as local druggists who distribute it, recommend it highly. But be sure you get CocoCod, the new easy-to-take cod liver oil preparation.—Adv.

A meeting of interest to you will be held in the Assembly Room of the Court House on Monday evening, Feb. 2nd, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Ellis Hammett, a special representative of the Purina Mills, St. Louis, will address the meeting. Mr. Hammett was the Purina representative in the ton litter contest that won the world's record in 1923, and also in 1924. By the way, both these world records were made in Texas. Why not make the next world record in Ohio? And in Greene County?

Don't forget the date.

dancing, "stunts," concerts, and plays prepared for the evenings.

Back in 1915, at Ohio's third annual Farmers' Week, the program listed for the five days about 75 events and 45 speakers. This year the 20-page program names close to 350 events and 200 speakers.

Information on rooms and board available to Farmers' Week visitors is published on the inside front cover of the completed program. A list of addresses of rooms for rent in the university district will be available on the campus. College officials also announce completion of arrangements for meals on the campus, for checking parcels and baggage, for reduced railroad rates, for special traffic regulations on the campus. There will be a rest room for women and a nursery where mothers may leave small children.

A bright warm sun Wednesday broke the back of the severe cold wave that had forced Xenians to hunt their heavy top coats Tuesday but changeable weather pushed the mercury down to a lower mark Thursday morning.

The city street cleaning department worked the entire day keeping the gutters clear from snow with varied success.

MAY BE BEAUTIFUL BUT YOU'LL HAVE TO SHOW CITY CLEANERS

The heaviest snowfall of the winter gave the streets of Xenia a thick blanket that city street cleaners did their best to erase Thursday.

With the mercury fluctuating from a point about fifteen degrees above in the early morning to around the twenty degree mark by noon, a steady snowfall continued throughout the morning and afternoon.

OLD GRIMES

One of the clerks over at the Hotel Regal asks for another McGuffey selection. Let me see, wasn't there one about Old Grimes. It went something like this:

OLD GRIMES

Old Grimes is dead, that fine old chap,
He thought that he could make it;
His daughter said: "Don't take the chance,"
Said he, "begad I'll take it."

His foot was stepping on the gas,
His floating ribs were tossing;
But he had nothing on the train
And got under on the crossing.

His neighbors came to see the wreck
From points both near and far;
They thought it was an awful shame
To smash up such a car.

His upper teeth they sought to find
To see if they were hurt;
The wreck had greatly changed his mind,
They found it in his shirt.

His daughter took the wreckage home
And sat in great endurance
Until the mailman brought the check
For her poor dad's insurance.

And Old Grimes hid from public view
Lay deep beneath the sod;
And hidden in his battered chest
Was half the steering rod.

Thus undisturbed beneath the dew
He'll sleep forever more;
The engine that he tried to beat
Of years will run three score.

School teachers should bear in mind that in after years it will be of great comfort to know that they taught many of the classified ad readers of that time to read. By the way, have you read the classified ads on this page this evening?

and that it has but one purpose, that of child welfare, and building character.

Mrs. Hamilton Schaffer, Dayton second state vice-president, represented the state organization in a short address. She praised Xenia's position in the midst of educational influences, that of Cedarville, Wilmington, Antioch and Wilberforce Colleges.

"The P-T. A. is striving for a better parenthood," she told her audience "and is seeking a solution to the problems of childhood."

She expressed the belief that district P-T. A. conferences were the foundation of the state and national organization. There should be a P-T. A. in every school in the country, as it is an essential part of education.

Mrs. Charles Adair, Xenia, sang the state P-T. A. song and was joined in the last chorus by the entire audience. She was accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Perrill.

Paul C. Stetson, superintendent of the Dayton City Schools, was the principal speaker at the afternoon session. In opening his talk he spoke of the splendid work of the Dayton P-T. A. in "putting over" the four million dollar school bond issue in Dayton recently.

"We have been laboring under the misapprehension, after leaving school that we have been educated," Mr. Stetson said. "It is a phenomena in America that every pupil leaves high school and college with the thought that he is thoroughly educated."

"Our further faith in the schools is shown by the amount of money that is annually being expended on our institutions and the number of people that are enrolling. There is a steady increase in the number of pupils and the course of study have been correspondingly widened and it is harder now to get a degree."

"There are many by-paths of education today and it is difficult for the student to keep to the main-line of studies. Every line of education is offered in the schools today and greater attention is paid to the health of the pupils and the athletics assume a large field."

He praised the vocational subjects offered in American schools and said that "possibly the day will come when the course of beauty parlor work will be adopted by the schools."

"With the demands placed on school officials as to what the public wants in school courses—we will present system produce an educated people," Mr. Stetson asked.

"If the expenditure of money means anything, America is the best educated country in the world. This is perhaps due to the fact that in this country success is measured in dollars and cents. It is not essential that the boy or girl go to college to obtain success in his or her life work. The chances made by a college education to reach fame are small," he declared, "which a glance over the names of America's great will show."

"There is a difference between being trained and being educated," Mr. Stetson declared. "There will never be an equal to the individual care that is given the child in the home. We can't expect the schools to complete the pupil's education," he said, "experience in life and after environment is the real education."

"The greatest educational institution is not the college or the high school—it is the home—that is the real educational foundation. The attitude of the home shifting the responsibility of the child to the school is the cause of anxiety to school officials," he said.

"Parents select with care an automobile but leave the choice of playmates for their children out of their scheme of things. The church should apply a large part of the modern spiritual development for the child is needed today. The educational process cannot be completed without provision for spiritual development."

"The responsibility for intellectual and spiritual development does not rest with the schools but belongs to the home. This is one of the new demands on education," Mr. Stetson closed.

Mrs. Edith McClure Patterson, state thrift chairman charmed her audience with a decisive and rapid-fire address. She called her subject "Making Motherhood Fashionable" and declared that "motherhood is the biggest and holiest responsibility and the most important privilege of existence."

"The American woman and mother will determine where America will stand among nations" was her statement. "Woman are gifted as home administrators, but houses and homes are different. Housekeeping must be done on a professional basis and we housewives must have fundamental business methods."

"There is no reason why Ohio can't have classes where women can study the science of buying. It is high time that we realized the importance of the buying woman."

"It is in this generation that the causes of war must be determined and outlawed and women need to be awakened to their responsibility. It is time that the people should stop war causes and it is the woman's job."

"We were buffeted in the past war. We thought we were going in for a great principle, but the war was really for economic reasons. We should clean house right at home!"

"The second greatest cause of the war was Fear. We must get rid of Fear. We women are living in a new world and we have tried to adjust old-fashioned remedies to a new world. We must see that the old order changeth."

She stressed the importance of the economic position and the importance of the buying woman. "After all, the big thing is the production of real persons, by us women. Women are responsible for social conditions. We are behind the times in choosing fathers for our children. We must raise our place in our own estimation."

"Having a good home and well-ordered children is the greatest asset of the country. The power of the country lies with the women who have children in the public schools. Every mother has a part in the beautiful mosaic pattern of life and it is her duty to do the best by her responsibility," Mrs. Patterson said in closing.

As suggested by Mrs. Patterson, the convention passed a resolution to send a letter of condolence to the family of Mrs. Higgins, the late national President of the Parent-Teacher Associations.

A resolution that the state obtain funds for the care and education of handicapped children was passed by the body, a re-affirmation of the action taken by the organization at Middletown at the last district meeting.

A resolution upholding other organizations to have cigarette sale, use and manufacture in Ohio stopped was presented to the convention. After heated discussion the resolution was passed and will be forwarded to the state legislation. The last resolution was that suggested by C. A. Waltz, urging that financial relief be obtained for schools.

Thurman "Dusty" Miller, Wilmington newspaper man and humorist, was one of the most enjoyable features of the program. His sure-fire philosophy, interspersed with humor, was well received by the audience.

He told the convention that "success was the measure of service one renders to the world."

His other outstanding statements were: "Love and service will always stand in the world, when other principles fail. You have got to put more into the world than you take out. We all are bound to love the thing for which we fight for. You can't without giving."

Following the luncheon plan, the several hundred delegates were served dinner in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Pearl Wolf and Jacob Kany with the assistance of a large corps of school mothers and patrons cooked and served a delicious menu.

The evening session opened with the invocation by the Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Miss Harriett McCarty, school music supervisor, led the singing of "America" and several other numbers, with Miss Fannie K. Haynes at the piano.

Four boys and four girls, pupils of the first grade at Central High School, presented a charming musical, dressed in quaint costumes.

The fore part of the evening program was devoted to ten-minute addresses by several school officials on the work of the Parent-Teacher Association in their respective communities. The speakers included: H. W. Hodson, superintendent of schools, Clinton County on "What the P-T. A. Has Done in Clinton County"; H. E. Zuber, superintendent of schools, Osborn, Greene County, on "The P-T. A.'s Program in Centralized Schools"; J. W. Gowdy, superintendent of schools, Jamestown, on "P-T. A. Activities in the Village"; and D. H. Barnes, assistant superintendent of Greene County Schools, on "The P-T. A.'s Relation to the Board of Education." H. C. Aultman, superintendent of Greene County Schools, was unable to appear for his address on account of illness.

Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College, was the last speaker on the day's program and gave one of the most eloquent addresses of the entire program.

He declared that "next to the minister, the county owes the most to the teacher." He paid a stirring tribute to the memory of President William McKinley whose birthday was celebrated in America Thursday.

"The Principles of Life," President McChesney said, "are the home, government, work and the church."

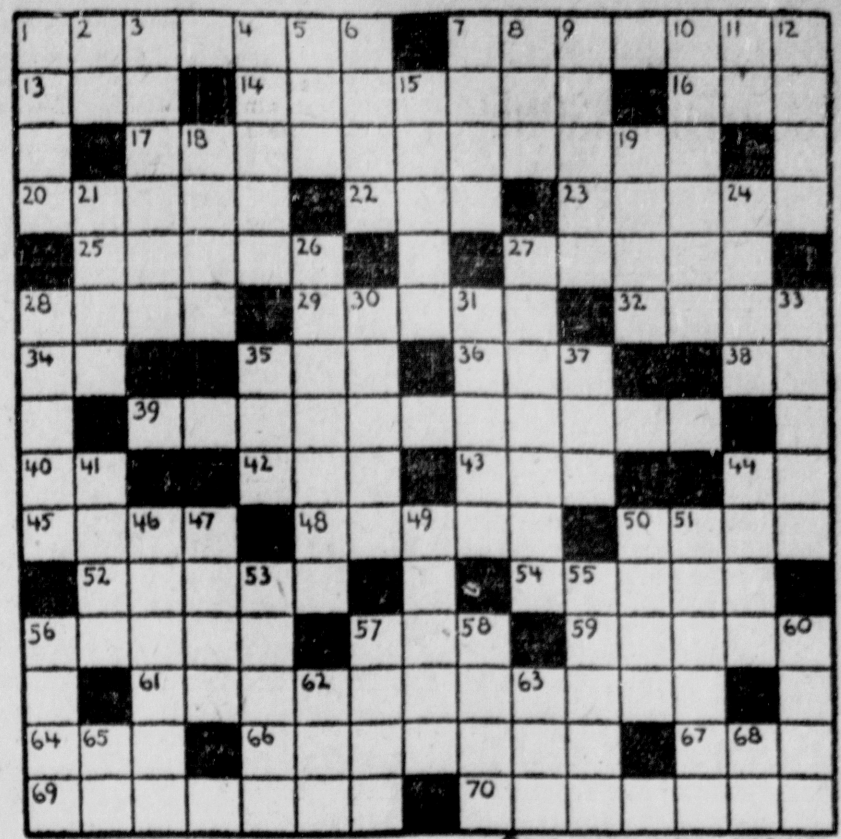

"All the best women should belong to the Parent-Teacher Association," he said, "since the school is closest to the child, except the church and the home."

He pleaded for fairness to all creeds and cited the unselfish attitude of the teacher in giving all to each pupil. "When the moral and spiritual influences of the home fail, the responsibility of the school," he said, "A pitched battle is on today between the forces of righteousness and truth and the weapons are spiritual ones. We seem to have two classes of people today—one who declares that everything is 'going to the dogs' and the other—that everything is getting better. I agree with the latter, despite the scare headlines of our newspapers," he said.

"We should be thankful for the scare headlines, since the conditions as they are today, need publicity!" He urged the Parent-Teacher Association to "carry on" the principles of the forefathers of America with a fair chance for all.

A display of articles, including drawing, hand-made rugs, animals, books, fancy work and tables, made by the pupils of the Opportunity School, in the auditorium, was a feature of the convention. The flag, made by pupils of the class of 1860, of Central High School was on display.

MODISH MITZI—Mitzi Says Styles Have New Wrinkles

By Jay V. Jay

It seems to be the aim of the new evening slippers to show as much foot and as little shoe as possible. That is why these sandals of Mitzi's are so fashionable. They are made of silver kid and of satin with a design of the leather applied on the satin.

Alligator skin is just as popular as it was when it was first introduced a couple of seasons ago. And the Oxford for street wear is even more popular than it has been for a few seasons past. Which is why Polly has chosen this natural colored alligator Oxford for her own.

Adelaide intended to buy some shoes for daytime wear but she has been fed astray and entranced by a new pair of evening slippers, as who wouldn't be when they are like these—of black satin, opera style, with a band of rhinestones around the top for trimming!

The straight spike heel is the new favorite and is seen on both daytime and evening shoes. Mitzi has just bought these patent leather Oxfords, partly because of the heel and partly because they are bound with kidskin in a good-looking shade of brown.

XENIAN ATTENDS DISTRICT MEETING OF GOLF PLAYERS

W. Crawford Craig, this city of the Xenia Country Club, attended the meeting of the newly formed Dayton Golf Association Wednesday night at the Dayton City Club, Dayton, together with representatives from twenty-four other clubs in the vicinity of Dayton.

Ralph DeWeese, Dayton, was unanimously elected president, Stacey Mitchell, Wilmington, vice-president, W. O. Gross, Eaton treasurer and George Klockson, Dayton, secretary. Mr. Craig declared Thursday that the underlying purpose of the organization is to promote the golf game throughout this section, the fraternizing of golfers and reduction of the cost of upkeep of the clubs by cooperation.

Membership in the association will be limited to clubs within a fifty-mile radius of Dayton, although other clubs may be taken into the organization from time to time, upon unanimous approval.

C. A. Weaver, Xenia, member of the Xenia County Club was among the alternates selected to date.

Whether or not the Xenia Country Club will become a member of the association, will be decided at the annual meeting of stockholders in April when new directors and officers for 1925 will be elected.

MONEY FOR REMOVAL WILL BE PROVIDED

An item recommended by Secretary of War Weeks to pay the expenses attached to transferring air service activities at Wilbur Wright Field, Fairfield, to Middletown, Pa., is included in the second deficiency bill soon to be reported in Congress.

It is planned by the war department to remove the supply branch of the air service which combines the bulk of the activities at Wright Field. Training squadrons will not be transferred, it is said.

Removal of the Wright Field airport is in the interest of economy, it is said. It will also permit the transfer of McCook Field, at present located in Dayton, to the new site, abandoned by Wright Field.

CHIEF STILL WANTS SIDE WALKS CLEAN

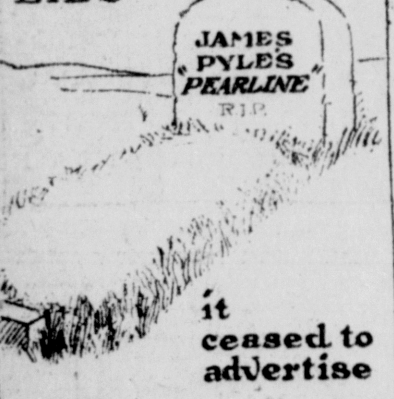

Those citizens who wish to avoid being cited to appear in Police Court, should heed the warning issued again by Police Chief M. E. Graham Thursday to get out the snow shovels.

The recent snow-fall Thursday again put a thick coating on the walks, and residents are warned to clear the walks and paths immediately.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

HERE LIES-

it ceased to advertise

Failure to maintain advertising appropriations is one of the poorest pieces of finance an established business can indulge in.

A generation ago "St. Jacob's Oil" was one of the most widely advertised products in America. It was a patent medicine enjoying enormous sales. When Charles Vogeler, the head of the this business, died, an "expert" went over the balance sheets and saw the enormous advertising appropriation.

This "expert" trimmed the advertising expenditure to little or nothing, reasoning that St. Jacob's Oil was so well known that it was unnecessary to spend money any longer to advertise it. Orders dwindled as advertising contracts ran out; business departed, never to return and it is safe to speculate that hardly one in fifty who reads this article remembers or ever heard of St. Jacob's Oil—one of the best known products on the continent 35 years ago.

A similar thing happened to James Pyle's "Pearline"—a company which used a $500,000 advertising fund as far back as 1904 and was one of the best known products in the entire world. The ad fund was "lopped off"; the business went dead. It tried unsuccessfully to make a come-back in 1914, and sold its plant for junk to a large soap manufacturer. Killing off the ad appropriation wrecked both of these prosperous businesses and it would do the same thing to almost any great advertising concern today.

The Husband Tamer by VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "The Luxury of Love" etc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

PATRICIA CLEVE has become estranged from her husband.

ANDREW CLEVE, who lives only for his business and expects her to give up everything to entertain his clients. She rebels and visits her sister, and he goes abroad. She is thrown with

GREGORY HEWITT, a famous financier to whom her husband has introduced her, who falls in love with her, and whom she cannot ignore because of the help which he can give her sister's husband.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

XLVIII—PARTNERSHIP

"MR. GILLESPIE will have to get another lawyer," Andrew told her as they got in the elevator. Andrew was always absurdly conscious of the necessity of talking—and of not saying anything interesting—before the elevator man.

"I was afraid that you would refuse," she replied in an equally colorless voice, turning to smile at him mischievously behind the elevator man's back, quite as she had in the old days. "You shouldn't, you know. It will mean a lot of money."

He didn't answer her until their taxicab was headed toward her hotel. Then gruffly he drove her to him and in a husky voice begged her to come back to him. "I never realized until tonight how I'd used you. Of course, I cannot take Gillespie as a client, no matter how much money it means. You went out and landed him for me—and it was no more than you had done before. But this time I realized how dependent I had been on you, how degrading it was for you."

Patricia smiled a little to herself as she realized how innocent she had been of any plan to bring him to his senses.

"I want you to come back," he went on, "and I'll try to give you everything you want. I've learned, my darling, that I can run my business without you. I haven't done badly, you know, since you've been away. But I can't live without you. Pat, I need you. There isn't any joy in life without you."

Pat slipped her arm around his neck and a little sob shook her shoulders. "And I thought tonight was the end of everything," she whispered, burying her head deeper on his shoulder. "You were so polite to me."

Her little drawing room at the hotel looked cold and cheerless as they came in, though the big bowls of flowers and delicate French furnishings had seemed charming to her only a few hours before.

"We'll have a great big open fireplace with big chairs that you can sink down in," Patricia started in enthusiastically, as he asked her if she wouldn't go house hunting with him the very next day.

THE END.

"And we'll spend all our evenings in them," he assured her laughingly as he held her closer in his arms. "Unless you get a hankering once in a while to go to see the Polies or take a look at the cabarets you used to be so weary of."

Patricia sighed exultantly. "I'd like to go a few times just with you and perhaps Linda Boyce and her husband. And I'd like to be awfully rude to all of you just to make up for the times when I've had to be polite to people who meant nothing in my life. But, Andrew, can we do it? Buying the house and all is going to be awfully expensive. Can you afford to let down all at once? I could stand fishing business for you if it meant cabarets every night and entertaining a dozen women like Mrs. Hewitt at our house, if I was only sure that we could get away from it sometime in the future."

"You darling!" Andrew exclaimed. "It won't be necessary though," he explained a few minutes later. "I won't be fishing for clients, at least for awhile. I made connections over in London that will keep me occupied for a long time. But I'm not even going to tell you about the future."
